Council stymied as rail hearing date announced

Haliburton County council has been stymied in its efforts to have a hearing on the fate of the Lindsay/Haliburton rail line delayed. The Railway Transport Committee of the Canadian Transportation Commission has served formal notice that it will hold a public hearing in Lindsay July 22 to hear CNR's application to close the 54.96 mile long line.

No rail traffic has moved beyond Kinmount since 1978, when a washout north of the hamlet made the line unusable. CN refused to repair the line, despite pressure from local councils, claiming its engineers had set repair costs at more than $75,000.

The railway claims losses from the operation of the line of $181,843 in 1975, $172,614 in 1976, and $151,546 in 1977. Loss figures for 1978 and 1979 will be made public at the hearing, according to the notice from the commission.

Council had sought to delay the hearing pending completion of a feasibility study for a proposed tourist train on the line. The study is a joint venture between Haliburton and Victoria Counties, The Town of Lindsay, and the Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

The hearing is scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m., July 22 at the county court house, Francis Street, Lindsay.

Anyone who wishes to make a submission in respect to CN's application can do so by mailing it to the Acting Secretary, Railway Transport Committee, Canadian Transportation Commission, Ottawa, at least 10 days prior to the date of the hearing.

Anyone who wishes to can also present their views on the abandonment at the hearing.

Coroner's jury rules man dead

Ontario's Lieutenant Governor, The Honourable Pauline McGibbon, was in Haliburton Sunday afternoon to officiate at the opening ceremonies of the new Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum at Glebe

Day caps two and a half years of work

New museum officially opened

More than two and a half years of effort were capped Sunday afternoon as Ontario's Lieutenant Governor, the Honourable Pauline M. McGibbon, snipped the ribbon to officially open the new quarters of the Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum.

The ceremony marked the culmination of a joint project between the municipality of Dysart et al, the Haliburton Rotary Club, and other community groups which began in January, 1978.

Scores of citizens, the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band, museum committee representatives and a number of local dignitaries were on hand for the 2 p.m. opening.

Earlier in the day, the vice-regal party was entertained at a luncheon at the PineStone Inn hosted by the municipality.

The Legion Pipe Band

formed the colour guard and provided the music as Mrs. McGibbon and her party were met in front of the museum by Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey.

In his remarks before the ribbon cutting, the Reeve paid tribute to all those who had helped make the new building a reality, and especially to the Haliburton Rotary Club, sponsors of the first pioneer museum in the village, who committed $25,000 to the present museum. Fearrey also praised the late Napier Simpson, former Stanhope councillor and architect for the project.

Noting that the new facility is the first step in a long range plan for development of the Glebe Park museum site, Fearrey said building upon it would be challenge for the future.

Principal speaker J.

Douglas Hodgson, director of education for the Haliburton County school board, highlighted the history of development in Haliburton County, and of the museum site in particular.

The 200-acre Glebe Park site had been a gift from the Canadian Land and Immigration Company to the Anglican Church, Hodgson said. In the 1960's it was sold to the municipality on the condition that it be used for public purposes.

In concluding his remarks, Hodgson quoted the last lines of Nila Reynolds, "In Quest of Yesterday", in which she notes that for those who are born and grow up in Haliburton County "no other place except the Highlands of Haliburton can ever be truly 'home to the heart'."

Building committee chairman Gerald Dawson introduced the Lieutenant Governor, former chancellor of the university of Toronto, as "a lady who has demonstrated a high level of public service to the community."

"It is our loss that her honour will be terminating her appointment in September," Dawson said.

Before snipping the ribbon, Mrs. McGibbon congratulated the volunteers whose efforts had made the project possible. "I hope you will continue to work for the museum," she said, noting that it will provide educational opportunities not only for visitors to the area, but for local children.

Following the ceremony the Lieutenant Governor signed the guest book before museum committee member Jane Heyes guided the vice regal party on a tour of the museum and renovated Reid house.

Council wants owners to pay bill for culverts

Nearly a dozen ratepayers on Anson and North Water Streets in Minden will receive final notice within the next few weeks on a bill for driveway repairs and culvert installations.

Dr. Harry Parrott to visit Haliburton

Ontario's environment minister will be in Haliburton Village, Monday night to discuss the effects of acid rain on tourism with the public.

Harry Parrott's decision to attend the meeting came in the wake of a request from the Haliburton County Echo to MPP John Eakins, and a subsequent letter from Dysart et al to the office of the minister.

The meeting will be the third public forum in an area threatened by acid rain since the minister announced new control orders on emissions from INCO's Sudbury smelter last month. The controls were announced at a meeting in Sudbury, and restated at a meeting in Muskoka several days later.

Although the topic of the Haliburton meeting is "Acid rain and its effects on tourism", the public will be invited to question the minister on other matters of concern.

The meeting gets underway at 7 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

workers when the streets were repaved following sewer installation. Shortly afterward, property owners were sent bills for $137.60, the standard charge for culvert and driveway work throughout the municipality, but they have so far refused to pay. The ratepayers apparently feel they should not have to shell out because they did not ask that the work be done.

Although there was a verbal agreement between the road superintendent and the property owners, no formal agreement for the work was ever signed, clerk Elinor Burke confirmed Monday.

But council will insist that the bills be paid, and will turn the matter over to a collection agency if the final notice brings no response.

Initially, council appeared ready to strike a compromise. Councillor Lyle McKnight said that if the municipality raised the road, they may have "created the problem". He felt the property owners should pay for the driveway repairs, but that the municipality should deduct the $60 cost of the culverts from the bills.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard took the opposite tack, saying that if the municipality agreed to pay for the crushed stone that was laid down, the property owners should pay for the culvert work.

But councillor Stuart Brandon argued against making any concessions. Before the work was done, he said, the

Glamorgan backs down on hiring, two resign

by Sue Cooper

In the wake of Glamorgan Township council's reversal of a decision to hire a non-resident as road superintendent, two councillors have resigned.

Resignations from deputy reeve Ken Maguire and councillor Glenn Graham were tabled at the June 23 meeting of council. This was the seventh meeting of council within three weeks.

Since that time Graham has withdrawn his resignation while Maguire said Tuesday he might reconsider.

Graham said he tendered his resignation because he was very upset about the problems council was having with ratepayers over the hiring of a non-resident as road superintendent.

A delegation armed with a petition approached council at its June 17 meeting to protest the hiring of Edward Bryan of Keene, Ontario.

Graham said the delegation's protest had influenced his decision to resign but he then realized there were other people in the township who had voted him into office and he should try to fulfill his term for these people.

Maguire said he resigned because of health and personal reasons but might reconsider if he feels better.

"I'll still help out in any way I can," he said.

Council reversed its decision to hire Bryan at its June 23 meeting with only councillors Joe Fecht, Robert McCausland and reeve Robert Fotheringham present.

Since the township had sent a letter to Bryan stating he had been accepted for the position, the township is being held responsible for expenses Bryan incurred in anticipation of the job.

Council notified Bryan he would have to provide a half ton pick-up truck for township duties. The township would pay him mileage for the vehicle.

Because of its change of mind council had to purchase the truck from Bryan and pay the repair bills which were submitted.

This truck is now for sale by the municipality, according to councillor Joe Fecht.

Council has also had to pay Bryan $1,424.80, which is the difference between his present salary and the salary of the road superintendent for a six-month period.

As well, council paid $50 to cover Bryan's legal fees.

Confusion surrounds the entire matter of hiring and the reverse decision not to hire Bryan as road superintendent.

Initially, council received 16 applications for the position and decided to interview five candidates. Those to be interviewed were asked to attend council on June 7. Thomas Adair, Terry McGregor, Vince Billings and Edward Bryan were interviewed for the position by council. The fifth applicant, Patrick Mousseau, was unable to attend.

On June 10 council passed a motion to hire Edward Bryan as road superintendent. Voting yea were Robert Fotheringham, Ken Maguire, Joe Fecht and Glenn Graham. Robert McCausland was the sole nay voter.

Although reeve Fotheringham said on Monday "I told council when Jim Manley resigned that I didn't care

Teachers get 7.5% increase as one year contract ratified

Haliburton County Board of Education and its secondary school teachers have reached a contract settlement that calls for a 7 1/2 percent increase in the 1980/81 school year.

The agreement was ratified by the board Thursday, and by the teachers on Friday, the last day of the school year.

Coupled with a 1.2 percent cost of living increase folded into the salary grid in June under the terms of last year's agreement, the new contract will produce salaries ranging from $14,935 for a beginning teacher with minimum qualifications to a high of $32,495 for a teacher with ten years experience and top qualifications.

Remuneration for extra responsibilities will also increase under the new contract. Department heads will receive $2,450, an increase of $250 over last year, while minor department heads will be paid an additional $1850, an increase of $200 over the 1979/80 contract.

Only other changes in the new contract deal with redundancy and the grievance procedure.

Cheryl Murdock, trustee from Lutterworth who negotiated on behalf of the board, said the redundancy clause, which sets out the rules that will apply if staff reductions are necessitated by declining enrolment, is "basically the same as the elementary school clause, with the exception that it is modified to fit the department structure" at the high school.

The board had sought to have department heads and minor department heads pro-

Council warns owner of Rockcliffe hotel

Complaints could mean LLBO hearing

The Liquor Licensing Board of Ontario will be asked to review the beer garden at Minden's Rockcliffe Hotel if council gets written protests about the facility, a councillor has told the hotel's owner.

Len Lonsberry said at a meeting last Wednesday that a number of ratepayers have protested to him about beer garden patrons who direct "obscene remarks" at passersby.

"It's a bad situation," Lonsberry told Dave Willis, adding that anyone who complains will be asked to put their comments in writing, and that "if we get enough, we'll ask the LLBO to review it," (the beer garden).

Two weeks ago, council considered a letter from Minden area Resident Dennis Willison in which Willison complained about youths drinking on the street and questioned the image the beer garden gave the village and the kind of clientele it attracted.

The letter drew a reply from the hotel owner's lawyer, E.J. Gardiner. In a letter to Willison, a copy of which was sent to council, Gardiner said there was no proof the beer that Willison saw youths consuming in front of the Rockcliffe. The lawyer said his client had a good reputation as a businessman and citizen, and he called on Willison not to make any further allegations against the hotel or its owner.

Willis said that since the letter was read at council and its contents made public through the two local newspapers, he has been "getting who they picked as long as it was someone in our own area," he voted in favour of hiring the non-resident Bryan.

Two days after the delegation had met with council, a special meeting was held in the council chambers. A motion, 80-152, was passed to confirm the appointment of Bryan as road superintendent.

During this vote, all council members voted the same as they had on the initial hiring resolution, except for Fotheringham who voted that Bryan should not be hired.

Subsequently, at the insistence of deputy reeve Maguire another motion was passed, 80-153, to withdraw the previous motion, 80-152. Voting yea were Maguire, Graham, McCausland and nay voters were Fotheringham and Fecht.

This motion did not withdraw an earlier motion which actually hired Bryan. It just ensured that the original vote of 4-1 would be the official one.

Although no formal resolution has been passed, most council members feel a local person will not be hired by the municipality.

"I hope we don't have to advertise. I hope we can do it locally," Reeve Fotheringham said Monday.

"We're going to hire a local person," Councillor Graham said, echoing the reeve's remarks.

Council will probably look at the problem of hiring a road superintendent at its meeting tonight (Wednesday).

"It will probably take another meeting or so to smooth things out but I hope they will be soon," Fotheringham said.

The Haliburton Rotary Club held its year-end meeting at Wig-a-mog Inn, Thursday. Here, outgoing president Vince Connaughan hands over the chain of office to president-elect, Art Dawson.

Curlers open tenders for building

Minden curling club's building committee will have to choose among six tenders for the construction of a new curling rink.

Building committee chairman Godfrey Saunders opened the six tenders at a meeting of council last Wednesday.

Highest bidder was Westmount Engineering, with an estimate of $447,550 for the facility, which will include four sheets of ice, a lounge area, change rooms and other amenities. Lowest bidder was Lee Construction and Engineering, whose price of $183,251 prompted council to wonder if there was some error in the figure. The tender also contained provision for an additional $37,260, however, the details of which will be examined when the committee reviews the submissions.

Other tenders came from Ray Knight Construction, $248,500; Whitney Construction, $277,588; John Beachli Construction Enterprises, $319,368; and Chomitz Construction, $320,447.

Council agreed to call a special meeting to review the tenders with the club's building committee before a final selection is made.

In other curling club matters, council has agreed to establish a trust fund at Minden's Toronto-Dominion Bank, for donations toward the new building. The fund will make use of the municipality's tax exempt status, allowing receipts to be issued to donors for income tax purposes.

a lot of heat," from LLBO inspectors and "a lot of static" from the OPP.

He reiterated his lawyer's claim that the beer Willison saw had not come from the hotel.

But Lonsberry felt Willis' contention was open to question.

"There is a lot of beer that gets out of the hotel. You know that," Lonsberry said. "I don't know about that," Willis replied.

Lonsberry countered that he knew empty quart beer bottles were being picked up on the street after every weekend, and that the only place those quart bottles could come from is the hotel.

Willis replied that if that was the case he would have to consider increasing the number of employees who control the hotel's entrances and exits.

As for Willison's claim that the hotel attracted "riff raff" to the village, Willis maintained that at least 85 percent of the people who patronize the beer garden are Minden residents.

In the end council agreed only that any further protests about the hotel will have to be in written form before they will be considered.

Culvert bills

owners were complaining about water running onto their properties. The municipality ditched, installed culverts "and now they won't pay," Brandon said. "Essentially, they owe us that money. If someone owes you a bill, you collect it in full."

In the end council agreed to send out a second, and final notice to the property owners involved, calling for payment in full.

Teachers, board set contract

tected from redundancy, but the suggestion was rejected by the majority of teachers. Years of experience will be the major criterion used in determining redundancy.

"Another contentious issue which was settled is the grievance procedure," Murdoch said. "There again, it was modified to the mutual satisfaction of the board and the teachers."

The benefit package was also rearranged "at no cost to the taxpayer," the Lutterworth trustee said. "It was just rearranged to the satisfaction of the teachers."

Other clauses, including the cost of living clause and those applying to four and five year leave plans, remain unchanged in the new contract.

Four meetings were needed to hammer out the agreement and Murdoch said "the proceedings went quite well."

Road work ahead

Work in the village will be halted until the end of August or early September with the MTC concentrating on the construction of Highway 519 north and south of the village.

In the fall the top course of payment will be applied to the main street when the rest of the paving job is completed. At present only a thin layer of pavement covers the street because it is a complex task to change mixtures for a small area, Kuno said. The pavement project will probably get underway in early September.

The completion date is now set for October but if work continues in the same way that date will probably be moved up.

Throughout the summer parts of the outlying streets in the village will have gravel and calcium applied, he said.

Minden sets vandalism reward

In an effort to curb vandalism, Anson, Hindon and Minden council will offer a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons who damage public property in the municipality.

Impetus for the reward was recent damage to facilities at Gull Island Rotary Park. By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told council that on the night of June 21, vandals set a fire that destroyed three picnic tables, valued at $60 each. The blaze also caused an estimated $200 damage to the concrete floor of the picnic pavilion.

Schell said the OPP have agreed to work closely with him on the case, as well as on a general crackdown on vandalism in the area, but he added that if council would offer reward, it might help bring witnesses forward who would otherwise remain silent.

"One conviction might put a stop to it, I think," the by-law officer said.

Council was quick to agree with Schell's suggestion, but were unsure about the best means of making the public aware of the reward. Councillor Stuart Brandon argued in favour of posting signs, in all public parks, but questioned the effectiveness of newspaper advertising.

He was overruled however, as council opted to advertise the reward. The cost of signs will also be investigated.

Skydiving is a challenge

Safety is high priority in parachuting

Only three fatalities resulted from over 30,000 jumps made

On the face of it, the sport seems a little crazy. Why would anyone want to don 40 pounds of equipment, crawl out the open door of an airplane into an 80-mile an hour wind and on a signal from a jumpmaster, plummet 2800 feet to the ground, relying on a nylon canopy and a canvas harness to intercede in the 19 seconds that would otherwise elapse before certain death?

The reasons are as diverse as the people who do it. For some, skydiving is simply a challenge, a sport in which the thrill comes from flouting danger. For others, a parachute decent means a few moments of absolute serenity suspended between heaven and earth. For Eric Tucker, skydiving is both a passion and a job.

Tucker is an instructor with the Parachute School of Toronto, the largest of its kind in Canada. This summer, the school has expanded its operations to Stanhope airport. There, for $125, Tucker will put you through an intensive five-hour training program and take you up for your first jump.

Although the tuition seems relatively high, Tucker points out that it compares favourably with the cost of training for other thrill sports, such as scuba diving. And like scuba diving, skydiving is not dangerous when you are properly trained and have the right equipment, Tucker says. In fact, you are much more likely to be killed driving to the corner store than you are from a parachute malfunction, even if you skydive every weekend. Of the more than 30,000 jumps made in Canada last year, only three resulted in fatalities.

Safety is a prime consideration of the sport, and at the Parachute School of Toronto, Tucker maintains, an injury producing malfunction is almost impossible. Chutes are carefully inspected and packed, and the first five jumps are made with a static line that opens the main chute automatically, four seconds after you exit the airplane. Even if the chute remains in its pack ('a total malfunction' in the language of the sport), beginning jumpers are equipped with a reserve chute carrying a rate of descent meter that will open it automatically. Crash helmets are also provided, as are overalls and an inflatable vest in case you miss the drop zone and come down in a nearby lake.

The instruction course begins with a film strip outlining the most important elements of the sport. It stresses that nervousness is natural for a beginning jumper, but that it can be overcome through training.

Following the film and a demonstration of how the chute operates, it's off to an unused hangar to begin the hard work that must be put in before jump time comes. Using a mockup of a Cessna aircraft, you are taught how to exit the airplane with the proper arch of the back to cushion the shock of the chute's opening. Then it's into a harness suspended from the ceiling to practice emergency procedures for a total or partial malfunction of the main chute. Over and over again you rehearse the timing of the jump and the correct way to deploy the reserve chute in the event of trouble.

Finally, you head outside to practise the landing technique that will cushion the shock of the fall and lessen the chance of injuring an ankle or a knee.

Then, the moment of truth arrives. You don your helmet and coveralls, strap on the main and reserve chutes, and clamber awkwardly into the jump plane for your first parachute descent.

Echo reporter Sue Cooper took the course Friday, and made her first (and, she says, probably her last) jump. The following is her account of that experience.

The moment of truth. Sue Cooper gets ready for her first jump

The first skydive is an emotional experience from extreme fear to relief and finally, calm

by Sue Cooper

I am sitting in the rear seat of a Cessna 172 as it slowly climbs up into the sky; our destination is 2,800 feet above ground level.

The wind from the open door is blowing on my face. I am slightly uncomfortable with 40 pounds of gear strapped to my back.

The presence of the three people around me is of no consequence as I am wrapped up in my own thoughts.

"Oh my God, what am I supposed to do if I have a total malfunction?" I think to myself. For the life of me, literally, I cannot remember. My mind is a total blank although I know I have answered this question many times during the past day.

My memory slowly starts to return. I try to retrace all the steps that my instructor, Eric Tucker, from the Parachute School of Toronto, has covered during the last five hours of intensive training.

But I have only minutes left. The airplane has reached 2,500 feet and Tucker who is sitting directly in front of me on the floor (the seat has been removed for sky diving) prepares to throw a crepe paper streamer out of the opening to test the wind conditions.

We are above the Stanhope airport when he tosses the streamer out. We watch it slowly being carried down to the ground.

We circle around and Tucker picks out what he thinks will be a good exit point considering the winds. He throws out another streamer and watches its descent. He instructs the pilot, Jim McLean, to fly the airplane into position.

Tucker takes my static line and holds it in his hand. This time to finalize it all.

Echo editor, Len Pizzey, is sitting at my side (tightly strapped in I notice) with camera in hand.

I look at him with what might be described as a weak smile. Surprisingly, he seems more upset and nervous about this whole adventure than I am. We have reached our target, 2,800 feet.

Twenty-eight hundred feet!

"Put your feet out!" Tucker shouts at me over the noise of the laboring engine.

I cautiously slip off the edge of the seat and ease my way down onto the floor. Slowly and with great determination I stick my feet out into the wind.

I recall the platform in the rafters of the hangar that we have been practising on all day. Maneuvering in the strong wind is difficult, but I manage to place my left foot on the step and my right foot on the wheel. My stomach takes a small jump as I realize the wheel is still moving and not locked in place like the model one was. I abandon all hopes of standing on the wheel in that wind.

I notice Pizzey sticks his hand out into the wind by my head to feel the tremendous pressure. He rolls his eyes and looks at me like I'm crazy.

The sound of Tucker shouting "get ready" brings home the fact that your life actually hinges on such little things. Like two words, for instance. If only he hadn't said those two words I wouldn't be climbing out of an airplane into more than an 80-mile an hour wind, 2,800 feet above the ground.

As I place my right hand on the strut and quickly grab for the same strut with my left hand, Tucker's voice from the past few hours comes back into my head: "It will be a lot harder up there." He was right.

At this point I am to swing my right leg for momentum and when he yells "go" I'm supposed to kick out, shove off with my hands and arch my body. Simple. I've done it many times onto the foam mat in the morning.

The whole day takes on a very stark reality as I am hanging to the strut of the airplane. It is no longer a dream or an idea to parachute, I'm going to do it.

I think of the skydivers my father took up in an airplane when I was little. I remember how they just stepped out of the cockpit and said: "We'll see you down there." That sentence has stuck in my mind for a very long time. I would give anything to have the composure to say that sentence, at this moment, smile into the camera and fall gracefully into the sky.

But I can't. For that matter I don't even want to look at the camera: to have the absolute fear on my face recorded forever.

I rehearse my counting under my breath quickly. Arch thousand, two thousand, three thousand, four thousand, five thousand, check thousand. I remember Tucker telling me earlier that the count is very important and to make sure to check the canopy of the parachute to make sure it is properly opened.

"Go," Tucker shouts.

"ARCH THOUSAND."

Oh help. I have absolutely no control on my own life. Could I possibly have been so stupid to jump out of an airplane at 2,800 feet.

"TWO THOUSAND."

My feet are kicking wildly. For what purpose I do not know.

"THREE THOUSAND."

I am terrified out of my wits. The wind rushes past and there still seems to be no end in sight. I am not conscious of where the ground is or how fast it is approaching.

"FOUR THOUSAND."

Tucker said it takes 19 seconds to hit the earth if your chute doesn't open, I wonder...

Snap. My head and body are yanked out of their former position. A thunderous noise reaches my ears. Then, suddenly, I am drifting. My feet are dangling below me.

Euphoric hardly seems to come close to the feeling I'm experiencing.

The earth below me has taken on a form again. Although it seems unreal as I float to the ground, the blues and greens of the area are beautiful from

The strong and the weak

Ratepayers in Glamorgan Township who objected to a council decision to hire a resident of Keene for the position of road superintendent have ended up with more than they bargained for. The municipality now finds itself paying lost wages to the man it originally decided to hire, owing the pickup truck he bought in anticipation of the job, and owing him the cost of his legal fees. But the financial cost is secondary to the price the ratepayers must pay for destroying the credibility of their council. Two members have resigned over the issue, and two other members have demonstrated their unwillingness to make a decision and stick to it. No matter who the township now hires for the job of road superintendent, nothing save November's election can put right the wrongs that have been done to the majority of the township's ratepayers.

When council decided June 10 to hire Edward Bryan of Keene over 14 other candidates, it clearly felt it had found the right man for the job. Only councillor Bob McCausland voted against the move. By June 17, a delegation of ratepayers was pressuring council to reverse its decision, and council was looking into its legal position with respect to the motion to hire Bryan.

Two days later, it confirmed its decision, but this time the reeve had changed his mind, voting against the resolution. Apparently angered by the reeve's move, deputy reeve Ken Maguire successfully insisted that the motion be withdrawn.

By June 23, McGuire and councillor Glen Graham had tendered their resignations, and the remaining members of council voted on a motion not to hire Bryan, and to pay the restitution called for in a letter from Bryan's solicitor. This time the reeve and councillor Joe Fecht voted in favour of the resolution, while councillor Bob McCausland, who had been against the hiring from the start voted 'nay'.

If the maneuverings have left ratepayers confused, they have a right to be. The 180 people who signed a petition against the hiring of an 'outsider' will no doubt be pleased that some members of council lack the strength to make a decision in good faith and stick to it. The rest of the township's ratepayers should be appalled.

Thanks for a fine museum

It took more than two and half years of work, and the contributions of large numbers of public minded citizens and organizations, but the new Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum has finally become a reality. The building was officially opened Sunday by Lieutenant Governor Pauline McGibbon.

Any project, major or minor, begins with a dream, and in the case of the museum, the dream goes back to February 9, 1967, when the Rotary Club of Haliburton approved the purchase of the John Reid house. Since then, the museum has continued to acquire new artifacts, and to draw a large number of tourists and permanent residents alike.

As the collection grew, it became obvious that the old house was no longer adequate, and the idea of a new museum took shape. Turning that idea into the building that opened officially this week was a task that took wisdom and perseverance. The municipality backed the project from the outset, committing funds and working on behalf of the museum committee to secure grants from Wintario and other government agencies. It also made the land available in Glebe Park on which the museum now stands. Members of the committee and local service club representatives dug in to see the project through, giving up their time for the benefit of the community.

Initially the choice of the Glebe Park site drew criticism from many quarters. It seemed removed from the mainstream of the village's life. And in the short term, that is true. Yet in the long term scheme that will see the development of the park as a major attraction, the museum, with its potential for expansion, will prove to have been well situated.

Like the recently completed Rail's End Station Gallery, the pioneer museum will enrich the cultural life of Haliburton County. It will also help keep alive the rich historical heritage of the area.

All those who contributed to make the project work have a right to be proud of what they have accomplished. And in years to come, as the museum continues to grow, the community will have good reason to remember those efforts with thanks.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

An open letter to the ratepayers of Glamorgan Township.

As many of you know, council received considerable pressure from a group of ratepayers to rescind the decision to hire a roads superintendent from outside the township.

The requirements for this position, contrary to the belief of many ratepayers, is not limited to the operation and maintenance of township equipment. At least half of the road superintendent's responsibilities includes planning and organizing work, supervision of employees, keeping detailed and accurate reports for council and the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, recommending to council budget expenditures, and acting as a consultant to council on all matters relating to roads and public relations.

The original position council adopted was to hire the best candidate based on a combination of qualifications, experience, knowledge and personal suitability. There were 16 applications; five interview appointments were made and four applicants interviewed. One man clearly stood out as the most suitable candidate.

What decision would you have taken? Council passed the resolution four to one to hire this candidate.

Then the fireworks began. Demands to hire on the basis of patronage and pork barrel politics at two council meetings, a petition, personal phone calls and veiled threats were successful. The casualties are: Ted Bryan, who was hired by resolution as roads superintendent; Ken Maguire, deputy reeve and Glenn Graham, councillor who submitted their resignations; and you, dear ratepayers.

How does it effect you, you ask? About $3,000. In advertising and backing out of a commitment. Roads will be a little bumpier because this amount comes out of the road budget which is already constrained and there is no road superintendent to take charge of the work. Your severance applications and other routine business that council performs will take longer because we are down to three members, and tired of attending three meetings per week. Loss of leadership for the township may jeopardize the "Experience 80" program and possibly larger projects such as the proposed community centre.

Council members are your neighbours, not distant politicians. They give of their time for the betterment of the community. We cannot do it alone without your support, encouragement and participation. Let us hear from you so that council will make decisions based on the interest of the whole community.

Your participation is needed in the following: (1) attend the O.M.B. hearing on July 16, to state your position, at the fire hall; (2) Contact council members to have them reconsider their resignations; (3) Assist the Parks and Recreation Board in fund-raising the township's portion of the money needed to finance the community centre.

Respectfully yours,

Joe Fecht,
Councillor, Township of Glamorgan

To the Editor:

It is with increasing distress and frustration that I see the growing power of the Cottagers' Associations, and the political pressure they are exerting on the local municipal councils in cottage country.

These groups, now organized as members of a province-wide organization, can control the vote in many of the cottage country townships. With this power behind them, they can make demands and have by-laws passed with complete disregard to the needs or wishes of the resident population, many of whom are descendants of the original settlers.

Please don't think that I am opposed to summer cottagers. These people, for the most part, visit their cottage for the enjoyment of the lake and countryside, to relax and escape the heat and increasingly hectic pace and strain of city living, and by doing so make a great contribution to the economy of the area. Not all of them are members of the associations, and most of the members are far more interested in the many positive aspects, such as pollution control, shoal marking and water safety, organized events such as regattas, etc. than in local politics.

But their executive offices, as with many other organizations such as unions and political parties, tend to fall in the hands of the more aggressive and, at times, seemingly fanatic individuals, who appear to be able to sway their members to back them on any issue, no matter what impact it may have on the local community.

Of immediate concern is the present acquisition of the 66 foot shoreline allowance. This allowance doesn't belong to the cottagers, never has, and in my opinion, never should, for the following reasons:

1. Although the original purpose for this allowance is now redundant, in most places, this allowance should remain as a buffer zone between any buildings and the lake, to reduce the possibility of pollution. I realize many cottages have been built on this property in the past, however as redevelopment and upgrading of these areas takes place this buffer zone could be gradually re-established.

2. No new construction (with the possible exception of a small, inconspicuous pump house) should be allowed in this area in a residential zone, and a permit from the township should be required to remove any trees, to protect the aesthetic qualities of the shoreline. In my opinion, there is no greater eyesore than a line of multi-coloured or decrepit boat houses, or a side-hill desert hacked out of the forest, along the shore of a formerly beautiful lake.

3. This concession is the thin edge of the wedge. As mentioned by one of your correspondents (in Haliburton Echo and Recorder) recently, one of the next demands may be closing of all unopened road allowances and deeding them to adjacent owners.

What next? Close all public launching ramps? Close public beaches? Don't be surprised, folks, if they ask for them. And the only alternatives our

In this day and age, it would appear that most of us never seem to have the time or we think we don't to stop and say hello to someone and in other words, pass the time of day. We all seem to be so busy that we can't even stop to see what is going on around us. In other words we can't see the forest for the trees. One day last week I dropped into the Kosy Korner to have a coffee and when I came out to return to work at the Echo office I thought to myself I have work to do but it can wait for a few minutes. I went across the street and sat down on one of the benches in front of Cliff Dawson Insurance Agency on the main street. As I looked around the main street was vacant as far as vehicles were concerned as Lamco Construction Co. were preparing the main street for paving. It was at this point that I realized just how many changes were going on around us in our village. As far as Haliburton is concerned the year 1980 will go down in the history books as the year of change. It all started when the council decided to do a major job on the roads and sidewalks. From here a great many of the merchants got into the swing of things and started to do major repair work on their buildings, property on the main street started to change hands and many of the old buildings came down making way for the new structures. The changes in town not only in the business section have been many. Any week day that you happen to be in town you will notice workmen busily employed working day in and day out in an effort to get the new park on Head Lake completed as soon as possible. When an asset this park is going to be not only to the community but to all those who will be visiting with us. As I look out my office window I can see the new bakery on Maple Avenue going up. When it comes to size you will find that they didn't fool around with this building. It's going to be a big bakery. And mind you there are many other changes being made too numerous to mention. In this day and age when many of us are talking about a recession, many of the progressive businessmen in Haliburton who are spending a great deal of money to update their business premises are optimistic about the future and are showing this faith by putting the money they are making back into the community. To keep any community moving along it takes money and people spending it. In order for people to spend money they must have the opportunity to have jobs in the area. This in the past has been badly lacking but we are always looking forward to the time when we will have two or three small industries to employ these people. It's possible that many of our local problems are all in our heads. A friend of mine said recently that we are looking up only to see clouds in the sky, but that if we look long enough and hard enough the sunshine will always appear.

The main topic of the day seems to be not the weather but vandalism in Haliburton County. It's not getting better, it's getting gradually worse. All sections of the county seem to be getting hit by these vandals who don't seem to have anything better to do with their time than to go around causing destruction at every opportunity. It seems to be the case that if it's standing, let's tear it down. Many citizens go to a great deal of trouble and expense to keep their property in good condition, business people work hard to build up their place of business while others work hard every day so that they can have some of the benefits of life. There seems to be people in this world that hate to see other people have anything and they are the first to be on hand to see if they can steal it or destroy it. At the present time vandalism seems to be the worse in Haliburton where public property is being damaged, businesses are being broken into, flags are being stolen and in general, at times things are in disarray. It would appear that when the new park is completed in Haliburton that one or two security guards will have to be on duty at all times if we hope to have anything left except the grass.

As the song goes, "it's now those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer". It's now that time of year when we welcome back all the cottagers and vacationers. It's also the time of year when most people take their holidays with the exception of those who work and make their living here in the Highlands of Haliburton. During these next two months we have to really get down to work because the busy season has arrived. Let's make it a point this summer to go out of our way to make everyone who visits the Highlands feel welcome. If a person needs direction, please try to go out of your way and make sure that they know where they are going and that they can reach their destination. Stop for a moment on the street and welcome our visitors with a friendly hello. You'll get to know them better and in a great many cases new friendships will be made. Be courteous to them in the stores and above all, make them feel at home. We want them to come back again. So we say to everyone who will be visiting the Highlands of Haliburton this summer, "have a happy vacation and sit back and relax." You've worked hard all year and you deserve a rest.

The Haliburton Highlands Squash Club held their second annual Monster Rummage Sale at the Squash Club last Saturday. It was bigger and better this year and a great financial success.

The Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts will be holding their 18th annual Summer Exhibition and Sale at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School from Friday, July 4 to Thursday, July 15.

Many local people from the county have been telling me that they have been busy lately going to Dunford and Sebright to pick strawberries. In both places, it's a case of pick your own.

When the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, a reporter asked them, "To what do you attribute your fifty years of successful married life?"

"The formula," said Ford, "is the same formula I have always used in making cars - just stick to one model."

Pay Close Attention To Government

There was a time, not too long ago, when many of us could treat politics with a certain amount of disinterest. How often we were heard to say "I don't understand politics and I don't even try." Those days are gone.

In our highly technological and complicated society there are very few decisions made by politicians that do not effect each and everyone of us in our everyday life. Bearing this in mind we must all be very aware of what our political representatives are saying, doing, and passing into law. We should be concerned not only as a civic duty but as a simple matter of self protection.

This fall there will be a municipal election in November and very likely a provincial election about the same time. The old suggestion of "vote as you like but vote" is good advice only if we know who we are voting for and why. There is ample time between now and these elections to find the answers to those questions.

Some bemoaned the lack of good candidates to choose from. We must except the blame for this also. If good candidates are not available it is because either we have not encouraged those of high caliber to run, or we have discouraged those who did with unjust criticisms. Good government is worth striving for, but we still get the government we deserve.

Acid Rain Meeting

You may be tired of hearing about acid rain and frustrated by the little constructive activity that appears to be going on. It is such an enormous ecological problem the solutions may appear to be well beyond the grasp of any of us as individuals. The problem however will not go away by ignoring it and in fact will get worse. In Ontario alone 140 lakes have now been declared dead, and 48,000 more are in danger. Haliburton and Muskoka are the area that will suffer the most from this damage.

There are many arguments and conflicting reports and statements. INCO, in Sudbury has been identified as a major culprit, producing over 900,000 tons of SO₂ each year. On the other hand much of the acid rain dropping in our area has been traced to the U.S., and the Americans produce five times Canada's total, and twenty-five times INCO's, but they in turn argue that on a per capita basis they are only half as guilty as each Canadian. The industrialists argue that to eliminate or drastically cut down these SO₂ admission would cost so much in dollars and jobs that the economy could not stand it. The environmentalists on the other hand warn that life as we know it on this planet is in jeopardy if something is not done immediately.

On Monday, July 7, at 7:00 p.m. at the Haliburton Legion Hall the Honourable H. Parrott, Ministry of Environment will be in attendance to discuss the affects and possible solutions of acid rain. At the invitation of the Municipality of Dysart et al, they encourage all those who are as concerned as we are about this problem to attend.

You have no idea how tough life is for us celebrities: signing autographs, beating off groupies, phone ringing with congratulations and requests for interviews, trying to be triumphantly modest.

I'm certainly glad my celebrityness lasted only one day. Two days and I'd probably have started thinking I really was somebody worth knowing.

I did start charging students one dollar apiece for autographs, and had a fair little run there until one of them reminded the others that they could get a free signature just by reading the nasty remarks I make on their report cards. That was the end of that bonanza.

To the bewildered, your old, broken-down, favourite columnist was the subject of a profile in a national magazine called Today, and the phone has never started ringing since.

Some people thought the article was dreadful. An old colleague was disgusted because the magazine printed how much I make a year. My wife was furious. The photographer who took my picture crunched up the drapes he drew behind me for a background, and they looked as though they needed ironing. My assistant department head was annoyed about the picture, because the art department of the magazine had not used the air brush to wipe out the wrinkles, jowls, and other appurtenances of wisdom and maturity.

A bright young colleague, who writes well, expressed the opinion that the article was badly written, and was attacked furiously by other colleagues who thought he was jealous. He wasn't. He was right. It was a bit choppy because an editor had obviously been busy with the scissors, to make the thing fit around photographs and into the space allotted, as is their wont in a magazine that caters to a typical TV audience-mentality.

But those wonderful people, my completely uncritical students, thought it was great: first, because my name was in big type; second, because it was a national magazine; third, because my picture was in it; fourth, because they got a little reflected glory.

They'd have been just as happy if I were an axe-murderer, as long as I hit the media. So, one day my Grade 9 thought I was just that snarly old grey-haired guy up front who kept telling them that a verb has to agree with its subject. The next, I was in the same magazine as Richard Burton, and my wife was taking on the dimensions, figuratively speaking, of Elizabeth Taylor.

Personally, I have some scores to settle about the article. For one thing, it was too innocuous and kindly. The writer, Earl McCrae, is a cracking good sports writer who has done some fine hatchet jobs in sports figures in Canada.

Least he could have done is carve me up a bit, and let me get into a slanging match with him, via the public print. It was as though McCrae, usually as soft as a sword, had muttered to himself, "Poor old sod; he's over the hill. I'll use the butter instead of the salt." This is the same writer whom George Chuvpala threatened to punch right through the wall of a gym when he had written a piece about George the perennial punching bag.

Another guy I have a bone to pick with is Ray Argyle who owns the syndicate that distributes this here now column. At one point in the article, he called me a "monument." Well, I'll think of something to call you, Mr. Argyle.

One adjective in the article is going to create endless amusement for old friends of my wife. It is the word "languid". Mind you, it's rather a neat word. Better than pudgy, pugnacious, bubbling, feisty, or any of those other over-worked magazine-article words.

But my wife is about as languid as a Roman Candle. We were at a big wedding the weekend the article came out. About halfway through the reception, I was fairly bubbly.

ing, fairly feisty, and pleasantly pugnacious.

I drifted over to where she sat, deliberately looking languid, and observed, "Migawd, you're looking languid tonight." She marched straight to the bar and had me put on the Indian list. (Oh, yeah, somebody is going to write that that is a racist remark).

You'll be glad to know that the wedding turned out well. I drove to the reception while she map-read. She drove home, but I couldn't see the street signs.

We drove around a strange city for an hour and a half, completely lost. Finally, I saw a car, and a place beside it that seemed to be open. "Stop! I'll ask where we are."

I nipped out, went up to the stopped car, and demanded of the two police officers inhabiting it, "How, in the name of all that is holy, does one find the Royal Connaught Hotel in this misbegotten city with all its stupid one-way streets?"

The cop was a modicum of decorum. "If you'll just look to your right, sir, you'll see that you are parked directly in front of it."

So much for being a celebrity.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

Queen's Park Session Ends

The legislative session has ended and we are now into the summer recess. Meanwhile a fall provincial election is strongly rumoured. During the summer, many members will continue to spend a great deal of time at the Legislature, on committee and constituency work.

Discrimination Against Handicapped People

The Minister of Labour has promised amendments next fall to protect handicapped people from discrimination under the provincial Human Rights Code. Last year the minister brought in a bill aimed at protecting the rights of physically and mentally handicapped people but later withdrew it after spokesmen for these people had demanded that the minister not "ghettoize" them under special provisions. The minister has told the House that the amendments to the code will prohibit discrimination on all grounds, including employment, accommodation, contracts, services and membership in vocational associations. In this connection, the definition of handicapped will, it seems, "be expanded to include not only past, present and perceived physical disability...but also mental illness, mental retardation and learning disability." The only exceptions will be in cases where a particular handicap "renders the person incapable of carrying out essential functions associated with the particular activity in question." Amendments will also provide for boards of inquiry in cases of discrimination against the handicapped. Liberal Leader Stuart Smith criticized the minister's statement as "an election-platform gimmick" designed to make the government's position public in the event there is an election soon.

Le Mans Race Car

The controversy about the grant to Maurice Carter, the politician cum race car driver continues. His Camero failed to qualify at Le Mans, and he says he will not repay the $15,000 in Ontario tax money used to sponsor him. In a written statement, he said "at no time did I ever solicit public funding from the Ontario government." A spokesman for Carter said an "independent person" was hired to raise the sponsorship money...Mr. Carter didn't raise the money, so he'll not be refunding (it to) anyone." Stuart Smith has called upon the Minister of Industry and Tourism to table any written agreements between Carter and the government, and the minister has said he would try to do so.

Acid Rain Monitoring

Acid rain monitoring stations are to be installed by the Ministry of the Environment at 45 locations across the province. The aim of the program is, apparently, to "identify more clearly the relative contributions to this pollution from numerous continental sources." The system is to include two "networks" of stations, one to monitor daily precipitation which may contain contaminants and the other to study monthly accumulation. Fifteen sites will be used for the daily monitoring, including Kingston, Dorset and London. Monthly measuring will be done at 30 locations, from the Windsor area to Kenora, James Bay, the Ottawa River and South-Central Ontario. The new system will be in operation by late summer, and will cost taxpayers an estimated $180,000 to install and about $35,000 a year to operate.

Curry Motors beats Legion and LaRue to take first place

by Sue Cooper

Curry Motors has taken the lead in the Haliburton men's recreational league with a win over both LaRue's team and the Legion squad which were tied for first place a week ago last Tuesday.

Curry's boys downed the first place team 4-1.

Curry's squad put its first two opponents out but Bob Johnston made it to first base Curry's made quick work of their competitors with three fast outs in the top of the fourth.

John Wilson was on second when three outs put the Curry team back in the field.

Tom Curry got to second on a hit and stole third but didn't make it home as both Mike Scheffee and Prime fell to Curry's pitcher, Mark Schell.

Art Dawson tied the score for Curry's team and Jeff Stamp.

George Nicholls and Gary Brohman made it to base but didn't get their runs in.

Kennedy's team had no more luck in the second inning in the same three up three down style.

Dwight Sisson was the hero in the second inning as he hit a grand slam. Coming home for the lumbermen were Earl Bull, Roger Hicks, Jeff Winn and Sisson. That got the ball rolling for the team with two following runs from Craig and Derrell Stamp.

Nicholls, Jim Scheffee and Hicks were put out to end the inning.

Gary Burtch was on second for the Kennedy team when the three outs were tallied up.

Winn was also on second base for the lumbermen when Sisson, Stamp and Stamp were put out.

Kennedy's team remained scoreless until the fifth when Duff Mitchell brought in their first run. Winn started off the scoring for Haliburton Lumber in the bottom of the fifth. Following suit were Sisson and Derrell Stamp.

In the top of the sixth inning, Brian Mulholland marked up another score for Kennedy's but the team was quickly back in the field.

The lumbermen reached their final score in the bottom of the sixth as runs were accumulated by Winn, Sisson, Stamp, Stamp, Brohman, Scheffee and Frank Wallace.

Ron Reid and Mulholland both came home in the seventh for Kennedy's but the game was long over.

Winning pitcher was Dwight Sisson while Mulholland took the loss.

Curry's marked up their second win over the other first placed team on Thursday night.

Carpenter made it to third but couldn't get home.

Two quick innings kept LaRue's team with only one run. Curry's took the lead in the bottom of the sixth with runs from Wilson, Schell and Roberts.

Winning pitcher was Mark Schell with the loss going to Sid Cooper.

The same night, Haliburton Lumber destroyed Kennedy Surplus in a staggering 19-5 defeat.

Kennedy started off on the wrong foot with the first three batters getting out.

The lumbermen managed two runs in the first inning from Derrell and Craig

The team downed the Legion in a close 7-6 decision.

Andy Salvatori hit his way to first for the Legion only to be put out at second. Kevin Sisson was put out at first. Dick McLean scored the first run of the night for the Legion with Bernie Nichols making it to second before the team was put out to field.

The Curry team also started off with a good inning as Mike Carpenter and John Wilson brought in runs for the squad.

Ron Perrin, Mervyn Bain and Jeff Carpenter made up the three outs.

In the second inning it was the old three up, three down routine for the Legion batters.

Paul Madden brought in another run for the Curry team in the bottom of the second inning.

Runs from Sheldon Nichols and Salvatori brought the Legion team within one run of the Curry motormen.

The fourth, fifth and sixth innings were quick for both teams with the game being played mainly in the seventh frame.

The Legion took the lead in the top of the seventh with runs from Tom Little, Salvatori and McLean.

But when they went out to field, they couldn't hold their lead over the motormen.

Bain, Jeff Carpenter and Madden came home for Curry's to take the lead. The inning was not completed.

Mark Schell pitched the win with Andy Salvatori taking the loss.

At the end of the week's play, Curry's were in first place. The standings are: Curry - W5, L2; Legion - W4, L3; LaRue - W4, L3; Kennedy - W2, L4; Haliburton Lumber - W2, L5.

Cindy Hore named MVP in gymnastics

A former Haliburton Highlands Secondary School student has been named the most valuable player on the gymnastics team of a Winnipeg high school.

Cindy Hore was the top gymnast on the team at John Taylor Collegiate. Since moving to Winnipeg with her family in January of this year, she has garnered two firsts, a second, and a third in two meets. She also finished second on the team at the Manitoba Provincial Meet.

Whether it was a wet sponge in the face or a trip through town wearing sandwich boards, (which Sharon Chatfield and Shirley Rydman are about to begin at right) the squash club extravaganza on Saturday was fun for all.

Haliburton ladies defeat Stompers

The Haliburton ladies started off the play at home, a week ago last Monday, as they defeated the Snowdon Stompers 30-8.

Nancy Maughan was the winning pitcher while Anne Burk took the loss.

The same night Gooderham travelled to Minden to be downed 27-22 by the Juniors.

Heather Kennedy and Darlene Danilko had a good night at the plate for the Juniors. Cheryl Dillon pitched the winning game.

Karen Hunter hit a grand slam to aid in the Gooderham scoring.

In Irondale, the same evening, Andy's Angels tied the first place Carnarvon team 16-16. Judy Graham and Debby Swanton helped out the Snowdon team with their hitting. Swanton was on the mound for the Angels with Marg Darby pitching for Carnarvon.

The next night, the Minden Seniors defeated West Guilford 19-13 on the victor's home turf. Marla Wilson and Andrea Burk helped lead the team to victory with Nelda Cully pitching the losing game.

Gail Teasdale had a good night in the batter's box for West Guilford. Joan McKay was the losing pitcher.

Also on Tuesday, Andy's Angels, travelled to Wilberforce but were beaten in a close game 14-13. Susan Rowbottom took the win with Debby Swanton pitching for the Angels.

On Wednesday, Haliburton met up with the Stompers only to win again. The game was close for about the first four innings but then the Haliburton batters took over. Hitting home runs were Sheila Elston and Marla MacNaull. Nancy Maughan won the game with Lorraine Martin taking the loss.

Thursday night the Minden Seniors and Carnarvon met for a head-to-head battle. Carnarvon won 15-14.

Kelly and Sharon Harrison brought in some runs with their bats to help out the Carnarvon team.

Marg Darby was the winning pitcher with the loss going to Nelda Cully.

Also Thursday, Gooderham, led by Karen Franke, defeated the Minden Juniors 19-8.

Haliburton deer season to be six days

The deer season in the Haliburton area will once again last six days, November 3 through November 8. No restrictions will apply to the hunt in the area.

Complete details on the deer season across the province were released last week by the Ministry of Natural Resources. Some major changes have been included in this year's regulations.

A deer licence will be only valid for taking antlered deer that have at least one antler 7.5 cm (three inches) or longer in length, unless a validation tag for antlerless deer is affixed to the back of the licence. The validation tags will be available only to Ontario residents.

Details on how to obtain these tags will be mailed to all hunters who purchased a deer licence in 1979. Additional information will be available from licence issuers in about three weeks time.

Changes in rules governing hunting as a party, and sealing and transporting harvested deer were also announced by the ministry.

When hunting in a party of two or more licenced hunters, any member of the party may kill the number of antlered deer equal to the number of valid licences held by the members of the party.

But the only hunter who may kill and seal an antlerless deer is the one whose licence is validated with the validation tag.

Once the deer has been on a hit. LaRue's chance of a run was shorted as the next batter, Scott LaRue went out.

LaRue's team kept the lid on things as the men played the bottom of the first inning, three up, three down.

It was the same story when the LaRue team went to bat, but Steve Roberts made it to second base for Curry's in the bottom of the frame.

Tom Curry made it home for LaRue's team with hits from Walt Prime and John Robinson.

Paul Madden made it to second base for Curry's squad but didn't get any further as the next three men went out.

Gadway pitches no-hitter

Last Tuesday at Bancroft, Chester Gadway pitched a no-hitter as the Harcourt Lumber Kings defeated Bancroft Hotel 10-0. Only two runners reached first base, one on an error and one on a walk as Gadway handcuffed the Hotel batters. Gadway received fine support from his infield and outfield while Brian Sarginson, Dwain Tighe and Roy Hoare supplied the power at the plate.

On Thursday night at Harcourt it was a different story as the base on balls was a key factor in an 11-3 loss to Bancroft Sports Centre. Brian Sarginson, Butch Manary, Dwain Tighe and Roy Hoare led the Lumber Kings at the plate but the Kings failed to get that big hit with men on base.

Next action for the Kings is Monday night in Bancroft against Bancroft Red and White.

killed, the hunter is now required to immediately affix the game seal to the carcass at the site of the kill, in the manner prescribed on the seal. The hunter whose game seal is on a deer must transport the head of that animal with the game seal attached.

The new regulations are designed to allow the Ministry of Natural Resources to maintain and eventually increase deer hunting opportunities by greater protection of fawns and breeding females.

The 1980 deer season dates are basically the same as last year's with the following changes: In the Kenora, Dryden and Atikokan areas there will be no open season in Zones 5, 6, 8, 11B, and 12A because of very low deer densities; In the area north of Lake Superior there will be no archery season in Zones 12B, 13, and 21, and the resident's gun seasons have been shortened by one to three weeks in Zones 12B, 13, 24 and 21; The resident's gun season in Zones 41 and 42, around Sudbury and north of North Bay, has been extended by six days; In eastern Ontario resident's and non-resident's gun seasons have been extended by one week in Zones 61 and 62, by two days in that area designated as Zone 63B in 1979 and by one day in Zones 64, 65, 66A, 67 and 69B; The resident's archery season has been extended by one month in Zone 68, north of Belleville, and by two weeks in Zones 69A and 69B in the Belleville, Kingston and Brockville areas; A resident's archery season has been opened this year in Zone 75, northwest of Peterborough; In Zone 86, the Bruce Peninsula area, the resident and non-resident gun seasons have been extended by two days; In Grey County and the southern townships of Bruce County, Zones 87 and 88 respectively, resident and non-resident gun seasons will be open for four days;

Several resident-only shotgun and muzzle-loader seasons, with controlled hunter numbers, will be held in southern Ontario in 1980. Zones 76 to 84 will be administered by Huronia District, Zones 89 to 91 by Wingham District, Zones 93 to 96 by Cambridge District, Zones 97 and 98 by Simcoe District, Zones 99 and 100 by Niagara District and Zone 101 by Aylmer District.

Those wishing to take part in the controlled deer hunts must apply to the district office responsible for controlling the hunt between September 2, 1980 and September 30, 1980. Successful applicants will be chosen by lottery on or about October 6, 1980. More information can be obtained from the respective district office.

Throughout the traditional central deer range, the seasons are basically unchanged from 1979, opening on November 3, which is the first Monday in November. The gun season on Manitoulin Island will open on November 17.

Throughout much of agricultural southern and south western Ontario, where deer numbers are continuing to increase, the resident-only archery season will last from October 20 to December 13.

my vantage point.

I reach up on the risers (canvas straps) that are attached to my parachute to find the steering toggles.

I can now hear the static on the radio that is attached to the top of my reserve parachute which is, thankfully, still in its canvas bag hooked onto the parachute harness.

I hear the radio controller speaking to me from the ground.

"Sue, if you can hear me kick your feet together, hard."

I kick hard. I am relieved to have contact with someone. I can see my instructor drifting down on my left, but he is not close enough to be reassuring.

"Pull your right toggle down hard," the radio says.

"Okay pull your left toggle down hard."

"Pull it down hard, Okay let it up Sue."

"Keep pulling that left toggle, Sue."

"Now, keep coming straight towards me," he instructs.

The complete calm that I am experiencing is overpowering. I forget that I should be steering my parachute onto the runway area. The landscape is beautiful and my mind is straying from my duties.

I am daydreaming when the voice comes back over the radio: "Keep pulling that left toggle. Not so hard. Right Toggle. Let it up. Let it up."

I am at approximately 200 or 300 feet above the ground.

The radio controller, being more perceptive than myself, realizes I am not going to make it onto the safety of the airport field for that all important landing. I have not yet realized this distressing fact.

"Sue can you see a clear spot out there? If you can kick your feet hard together."

With my mind half-wandering, I do not realize exactly what the radio man said. I assumed he meant the spot on the field where I was supposed to land.

So I kicked my feet together once. Then, as my feet were just about to make contact for the second time, I understood what he was saying.

Frantically I looked below me.

Oh, no!

My heart sank.

My stomach was in my throat.

There was nothing below me but a forest and a partially cleared area covered with scrub and pine trees. Only an extremely experienced parachutist would be able to land in that spot without landing in the trees. And that even seemed questionable to me at that point.

I could barely hear the radio man saying, "I'm going to have to put you down out there. You can't make it to the field."

Panic overtook me. All my common-sense and logic seemed to have left. For that matter maybe it did when I decided I should jump out of an airplane.

I put my hands around my mouth and started yelling at the radio man who was about a quarter of a mile away.

"There's no spot. There's no spot. There's no spot."

Yelling seemed very useless.

The inevitable had arrived. The trees were coming closer and closer.

I started to remember what Tucker had said earlier about landing in trees. Which he said was not common. Professional parachutists apparently called them unusual landings.

Feet and knees together. Knees bent slightly more than on a regular landing to protect my body from the branches. Arms bent with elbows tightly at my sides and hands covering my face.

I closed my eyes not caring if this was necessary or not.

I felt the trees hit and then suddenly I was on the ground.

Unharmed for the whole experience, (although I was coming close to hysterics), I got up off the ground without a scratch.

Unhooking my gear, I started to laugh. I heard the airplane above me and ran out into a small clearing and waved.

I tried to sort out the connecting lines of the parachute and make an orderly daisy chain like Tucker had shown us. This probably would have been easier in an open field without entangling branches and twigs.

I finally managed to get everything into my arms, out of the bush and walked back to the airport.

While not everyone, in fact very few people, land in the trees, Tucker and the radio man congratulated me on my jump.

I was giddy. The adrenalin in my body was pumping hard and I was overcome with exhilaration. This must be the feeling all skydivers live for.

Benny overcomes handicaps with patience

by Sue Cooper

Benny Belaire is an amazing person. He has overcome seemingly insurmountable problems to try to have as normal a life as possible.

Benny, 13, is a cerebral palsy victim. He has little control of his muscles excepting those which move his head, and he cannot speak.

Benny has competed in regional handicapped sports events with his wheelchair and has played floor hockey, participated in slalom races and measured races.

He has also overcome his inability to speak. Two years ago when Benny came to live with the Suckling family on highway 503 between Norland and Kinmount, he could hardly speak at all.

At that time, doctors told David Suckling that Benny would probably never be able to speak and that if he did happen to pick up a few words, he would never be able to say an 'S'.

The doctors said
Benny
would never speak

Those doctors should be sitting in the room when one of the Suckling children walks in and Benny shouts out "Sarah" quite clearly.

Although those living around Benny can understand many things he is trying to say just by the way he acts, he uses a Blissymbolic board for conversations and at school.

The Blissymbolic board is about the size of a children's game board with symbols and words printed on squares smaller than a square inch.

The Blissymbolic system was designed as an international language, but it never caught on.

Benny points to the symbols of the words he wants to say and the words are for the benefit of the other person.

While using the board, which contains a multitude of symbols, takes some patience, Benny has memorized where most of the symbols are located.

His patience extends further than just finding the symbols he wishes to use to explain his thoughts, Benny has to wait until the person he is talking to determines exactly which word he is pointing to.

He usually uses his right hand, pointing mainly with his middle finger but because of his lack of muscle control it seems hard for him to pinpoint the small boxes.

As Suckling explains the history behind the Blissymbolic system, Benny demonstrates it by saying "A special man made this." He points out each individual word.

mathematical questions on his calculator. He can also attach paint brushes to it to do paintings and other art work.

He attends school at Five Counties Children's Centre in Peterborough during the regular school year. Presently he is working at a grade three level in school.

Benny leaves his home every morning at 7 on a bus that picks up children in many different communities. He doesn't arrive home until after 5 p.m. each day.

This summer Benny will be working in the "Lumpy Factory" in conjunction with the children's centre. Lumpies are little figurines made from sour dough and painted to create interesting little characters. Benny will be attaching labels to the back of the characters. The labels explain where the money goes that is raised by the sale of lumpies.

As Sarah enters the room it is obvious that she and Benny have a close relationship.

Turning to his quest Benny points on his Bliss board and says "I'm sorry but I forgot your name." the introductions are then made.

He speaks to Sarah through his board. As he starts laughing halfway through the joke he is trying to tell her it takes a little longer to get to the punchline.

"What does a dog say to the sandpaper? Ruff." Benny laughs and laughs.

The love
the Suckling family extends to Benny
and visa versa, is quite obvious.

The love the Suckling family extends to Benny and visa versa, is quite obvious.

The family met Benny when he was living in Bloorview centre on Sheppard Avenue in Toronto through a family member who was working there.

"Chris came home and said we had to go meet Benny, so we did," Suckling recalls.

He said their visits became more frequent and one day the doctors said it would be possible for Benny to return home with the Sucklings.

When Benny moved into the house, all doorways had to be widened to make way for his wheelchair and small ramps had to be made for easier travel.

In the wintertime when he cannot travel with his wheelchair outside, Benny can travel around the U-shaped interior of the house for a run of about 120 feet.

Suckling said they have sliding glass doors and low windows in their new addition to make it easier for Benny to see what's going on outside in the winter months.

Benny also has his own horse, Jubilee, at the farm. While he is not very proficient at riding as yet, his balance is improving, Suckling said.

Benny's athletic activities take the family to many parts of Ontario for events.

"There always seems to be something going on," Suckling said.

Travel is fairly easy for Benny as his wheelchair dismantles easily and can be packed away in a vehicle quickly.

Benny is a very lucky boy. He is lucky to have an understanding and warm family like the Sucklings to help him overcome his problems and he is lucky to have the perseverance to work against all odds.

Rotary Club buys sports wheelchair

The Haliburton Rotary Club has donated $1,000 to Five Counties Children's Centre for the purchase of a sports wheelchair.

Second vice-president of the centre's board of directors and a member of the local Rotary Club, Bob Morrow said Monday the money would be used to purchase the special wheelchair which will be used by handicapped children to compete in the olympic-type games that are now becoming popular.

The centre, located in Peterborough, expressed an interest in these particular wheelchairs, Morrow said. The Rotary Club followed up with a donation of up to $1,000 from the funds raised from Snowarama for crippled children.

Five Counties Children's Centre services the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Hastings, Peterborough and Northumberland.

COUNTY ECHO FAMILY

Extendicare News by Dr. W. O. Anderson.

After the splurging we did over the last Nursing Home Week we found we had some left-over fruit, bananas and those luscious strawberries. The best way to preserve them it seems is to mash them, freeze them until they are needed. Thus in this manner, Vera Griffin, Lila Simmons, Maude Weston, Lucy Woodcock, Noreen Stevens, Elsie Porter, Flossie Burk, Shirley Forst, Christina McCrae, Hazel Parish, Florence Stagg and Elizabeth McIntosh in the guidance of Pat Burk, disposed of the left-over fruit. It is astonishing how much such a group of ladies can do, say, in a minute.

We saw a snake on Extendicare grounds Monday morning, and continuing we found the sheath of skin which it had sloughed off a week or so ago. This is one of the amazing phenomenon of nature. One person seeing this skin expressed his belief that snakes lay eggs, then sit on them for three weeks. We cannot picture a snake even sitting.

We were glad to have Dorothy Iles back as helper for our Tuesdays bingo, with Betty Wise and Loretta Henderson and a newcomer Beulah Colleen making the game this week as it should be.

The patio is getting a roof constructed entirely of structural aluminum and a corrugated overhead with plenty of strength to carry any load of snow it might get. This was done by the employees of Emmerson Lumber Limited so if it does not stand up we will know who to blame. We are looking forward to the next rain to hear the patter on the roof or learn if aluminum has a patter like steel or even so simply watch it rain and watch the rainwater pour from the corrugations, but by evening we saw we would see no rain-water, except issuing from a downspout to discharge into a grass apron, and we are very short of water to water plants. Like flying a kite we suggested one of those attractive plastic rain water barrels or hogsheds at each downspout but that was shown down at once as being too ugly for this place. We cannot win them all but we continue to try.

Civilization is still frantically chiselling away at the atmospheric oxygen as though trying to learn if it could be exhausted. There is an extension of this "give and take" in the matter of the carbon dioxide exhaust by cars and other oil or gas powered vehicles, by our breathing, by all oil or coal fired electric generation, by all our disgraceful forest fires and our animal kingdom, including aquatic creatures micro or macro size. Each carbon dioxide molecule is attracted to water molecules in air or water to form carbonic acid. Thus considering the daily exhaust of 400,000 tons of carbonic acid, in Canada alone, do we need to look further to explain acid rain. Fish expel carbonic acid as we expel carbon dioxide. Can you not see fish suffocating belly up in water containing a saturation of that acid. Aquatic plants including millfoil are attracted to this saturation converting it to oxygen and thriving in the process. How picyune is the famed Sudbury stack expelling a mere 3500 tons of sulfuric acid or sulfur rain daily but that gets media attention, one step further is the limiting solution advocated. A ton of carbonic, or sulfuric acid needs a ton of agricultural lime to be neutralized. Who is going to haul 403,500 tons daily of lime or pay for hauling it.

Thursday we had a treat saved up for us, being senior citizens, an invitation to dine at the famous PineStone Inn. We had the good fortune to have Bill Thompson (husband of Madge who gave us the lupins, bergamot and phlox; to come, pick us up and drive us to this occasion. It was a chicken dinner, with marvelous coffee and nice dessert and in the amount that seniors enjoy. We are convinced that this dining room, in style and service and atmosphere is unsurpassed anywhere in Ontario.

Friday morning we were sort of like sheep without a shepherd when our regularly scheduled minister did not show to lead up in devotions, but Sheila Elston at the piano led us through a number of the old-time favourite spirituals in song. As an added touch Shirley Rydman and Jack Pollard displayed their talent in some duets for which they have our thanks.

Two movies were shown in the afternoon, Ray Smith projectionists; 1. The Big Country showing British Columbia as narrated by a native in that curious ritualistic style in which they excel. Suffice it is to say that British Columbia is stupendously beautiful. To say more would be like gilding a lily. 2. Guide to a Salmon. Movies like these tend to give us an itch to go fishing, and like the itch is tantalizing. Glen Ford was in the leading role, he caught lots of salmon, had a good time teaching his son but we wondered how much game is thus lost as food to become trophies.

Our next door neighbour has a lovely patch of forget-me-nots growing in a little rivulet ravine that runs between us. The lady gave us permission to take two shovels of these lovely plants to plant remotely back on Extendicare at what we thought was an ideal site. The status quo may have been quite as good but for some reason we seem to need to be perverse. There is an increasing amount of a pretty flower that has been dubbed 'the devil's paintbrush' a good name because only the devil as we were taught to know him is the only one who could possibly use that weedy flower to paint. Extendicare has some of it in each of two varieties, the lesser of which has invaded the expanse of turf, the other is on the fringe. We know no way to eliminate it except to pull it out and bury it deeply. Maybe on reading this someone will know of some sure 'paint brush' killer.

We learn with dismay that Pat Burk is on the sick list, a patient in a Peterborough hospital. We will anxiously await her recovery and return.

Peggy Henderson has been admitted to residence here, who like the rest of us will have to learn the ropes. Let us give her what help we can.

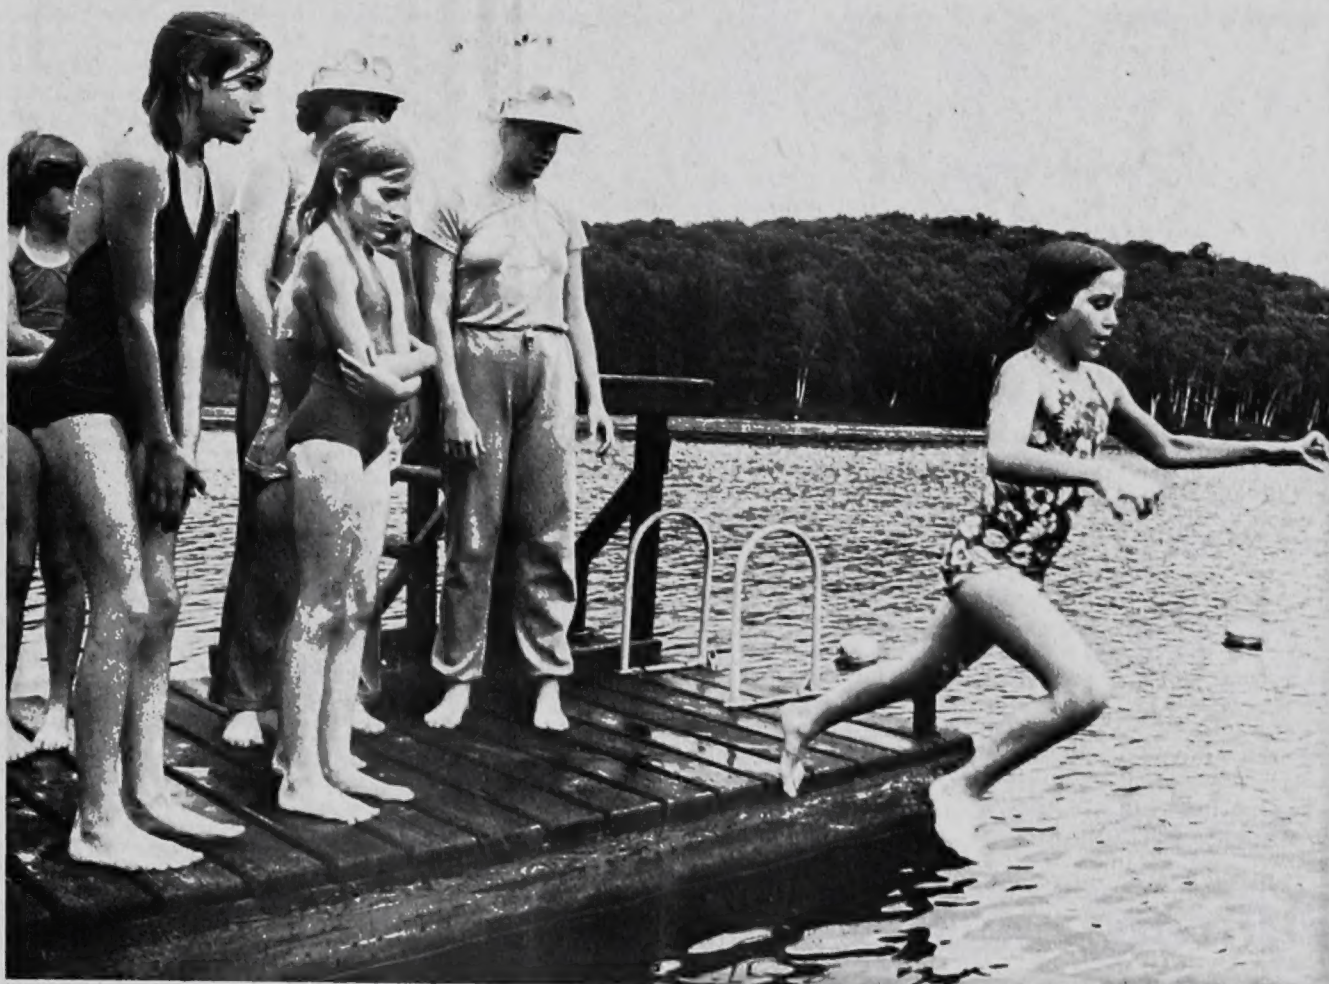

Sunday afternoon Lieut. Ron Mailman of the Haliburton Salvation Army, S/M Francis Noble and his officer wife Norma, and officer Amelia Sibley called to leave a spiritual message and to provide us with a short program of singing to the maestro's guitar. Thanks!

and nephews. She was predeceased by two brothers, James and Morgan Robinson.

For approximately 46 years, Mr. and Mrs. McCrea resided on their farm at Essonville, moving into Haliburton in June of 1973. In May of 1979 Mary took up residence in Haliburton St. Citizens apartments.

Mrs. McCrea was very active in the work of the church when her health allowed.

Mrs. McCrea resided at Welch Chapel, Gordon Monk Funeral Home, Minden until Tuesday, June 17, thence to Gospel Lighthouse, Haliburton for service conducted by Pastor G. Rosch of London, assisted by Pastor M. Kurtz. A solo "I Shall Know Him" was rendered by Mrs. G. Rosch. Other favourite hymns were sung by congregation.

Pallbearers were three grandsons, Michael McCrea,

Kevin Madill and Scott Kyle; three nephews, Wayne McCrea, Roy Hoare and Dale McCrea.

Interment took place at Essonville Cemetery.

The many messages of sympathy, floral tributes, donations to The Gideons, Cancer Society and Heart Fund and prayers offered, showed the high esteem in which Mrs. McCrea was held.

MVA announces allowance change

Minister of Veterans Affairs, Daniel J. MacDonald, has announced amendments to the War Veterans Allowance and Civilian War Allowances regulations, effective 1 July, to provide for the exemption of the additional $35 per family paid this year to Guaranteed Income Supplement recipients and also to increase the allowable casual earning exemption.

At the present time a War Veterans Allowance or Civilian War Allowance recipient, who is in receipt of both Old Age Security and Guaranteed Income Supplement at the maximum amount, receives an exemption of $35 if single and $50 if married. With the new changes in the regulations these maxima will be raised to $70 and $85 respectively so that the recipient will receive the full benefit of the announced Guaranteed Income Supplement.

The weather was exceptionally nice this week. It was quite a change from Senior Citizens Week. Many of our residents are taking advantage of the screened-in porch at the back of Hyland Crest. Our auxiliary are responsible for the area, and we are very grateful to them, especially during the hot spell.

Monday, we were back to our normal activities, beginning with fun and fitness in the morning. In the afternoon the ladies went to the craft room to finish their projects in preparation for the annual summer bazaar. Our bazaar will be held on July 18 at 2 p.m. in the auditorium. There will be a bake sale and a white elephant table. There will be no admission charged at the door this year, so come one and all, and we promise you a very pleasant afternoon.

Tuesday morning, Lieut. Mailman and his wife from the Haliburton Salvation Army held service in the chapel. The residents enjoyed their message and the singing of gospel hymns.

We watched two very good movies later in the afternoon. "Stampede Royale" took us to the Calgary Stampede where we saw the huge parade, cow milking contests, steer riding and the rodeo, where the cowboys demonstrate courage and skill. The chuck wagon races and grandstand show are very popular with the tourists. The Stampede is described as "the greatest outdoor show on earth."

Impressions was all about the Hudson Bay Company. We learned how it originally began, and how it has expanded over the years. The company was first a trading post dealing in beaver and fox pelts. Fur traders came for miles by canoe bringing as many as 40 packs of beaver pelts. In the winter they travelled by dog sled, and fought the bitter cold and high winds. This film compared the Hudson Bay Co. of today to that of yesterday.

The ladies of the Full Gospel Lighthouse in Haliburton made the birthday tea party, a very special event on Thursday afternoon. They served a variety of cookies, squares and presented our birthday people with a beautifully decorated cake, and a lovely corsage made of cloth carnations. Emma Stott, Alice Pogue, Ethel Boice, Maud Miller, Emily Priddy, Ada Lewis and Agnes Lansfield were our special guests of honour. Mrs. Kurtz sang a lovely inspirational song to end a delightful afternoon.

Five of our residents enjoyed the Senior Celebration Day held at PineStone Inn on Thursday. They had a delicious luncheon, and were entertained by Marilyn Stouffer and her choir. Those who went really enjoyed their day and were quite enthused Hello once again. I hope all is well.

First, a couple of reminders: August 2 is Kirkfield Lions Day, starting with an auction at 12 noon in the public school and winding up with barbeque and street dance. It should be fun! Then the auction sale to be held at the Cobocank Masonic Temple and sponsored by Cobocank Temple Corporation at 6 p.m., Saturday, July 5. The Temple is located directly across the road from the medical centre on Grandby Road. There'll be lawn chairs, tires, luggage, beds, coats - lots of goodies. Lunch is available. See you there.

The Kirkfield Lions, by the way, would appreciate donations of any kind and pick up can be arranged by calling any of the following numbers: 438-3748, 438-3555, 438-3106 and 426-9181. Proceeds go to help the Lions in their many good works.

It was nice meeting you, Mrs. Schlosser and welcome home.

Thanks to Sis Gillis for her very complimentary remarks Friday night. It's nice to be appreciated.

Scott's Store is definitely improving the appearance of our main street.

At least one gentleman awhile back, was asking how to make those hot little peppers. How about this one? Easy Pickled Banana Peppers: 10 cups small banana peppers, 2 cloves garlic, 4 cups white vinegar, 2 tsp. coarse pickling salt. Wash peppers but do not remove stem ends. Pack into hot, sterilized jars with one clove of garlic for every 5 cups of bananas. For smaller containers cut the garlic in half. In a saucepan, combine the vinegar and salt and bring to the boil. Immediately pour over peppers and seal. Makes about 4 pints.

Dave and Irene McNamara attended the beautiful candlelight wedding in Peterborough on Friday evening of their granddaughter, Julie McNamara and Bob Mullen. The happy couple will reside in Peterborough for the summer and later will make their home in Kingston.

Leslie Brown and Alar Soever will be living in Kinmount for the summer following their marriage at the lodge in Irondale this past week. They later will take up residence in Toronto. Many happy years are wished for these young newlyweds.

Ted and Irene McNamara with Laura and David, attended the wedding of Julie and Bob, from Eden Mills, Ontario. David stayed on with grandparents McNamara in Kinmount for a week or so.

Thankyou so much Irene McN. for your very complimentary words.

Bill and I spent a pleasant hour or two with Win Wilson, RR 1, Kinmount, last Saturday.

Jack and Joyce Hills of RR1, Kinmount, have just returned home after spending a week at Peoria, Illinois, where they attended the International Association of Coroners and Medical Examiners Seminar. They motored down with Dr. and Mrs. H.B. Cotnam. Jack was Dr. Cotnam's executive assistant for many years and still retains an interest in the coroners' system. While there, Jack was presented with a special certificate of merit in recognition of his services to the association, having served on many committees over the years. Dr. Bev Robinson of London, Ontario, was also presented with a certificate and these are the first ever to be presented. Congratulations Jack - we're proud of you.

Mr. Ernie Alden of Norland is very ill in hospital on Monday. Mrs. Alden walked over to visit awhile with Mary L. Pyke. These ladies are both well up into their eighties and I'm sure would love to have a phone call or a visit once in awhile. Think about it.

I enjoyed a very short visit with Joyce Hills on Tuesday. Bill, Lorrie and Jason Moss, Norland, attended the 40th wedding anniversary of the parents of Bill's best man in Toronto, Mississauga, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunlop of Orillia visited and took dinner with Ruby Schell at her home in Kinmount on Tuesday. Jack at one time worked with Ruby's husband on the railroad and they were neighbours in Midland many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson, Kinmount, attended the wedding of their son Tim to Wanda, in Toronto last Saturday. Kelly Anderson, also of Kinmount was best man to Tim. The newlyweds will reside in Toronto.

Father Brooks of St. James Anglican, Kinmount is visiting Toronto for a few days.

Ruby Schell spent a pleasant time and had dinner with Bertha, Bill and Keith Stata on Sunday. Thank you for your very nice comments, Ruby.

Maggie Kylie and Ruby Holbrook's children, Mary and Doug and their son Michael are visiting this week between the two families.

Kinmount Ladies Orioles softball team won out over the Norland ladies team by a score of 11 to 10, at Ward Park, Norland, last Monday night.

A very happy birthday to Ray Hobbs this week. Sorry to hear Yvonne Dyer was taken to hospital this week. I hope to hear you're well again soon, Yvonne.

I received a letter from a cousin in Newfoundland this week and she informed me that all the flags in St. Johns were at half mast the day they brought the 11 bodies of the young Hydro men killed so tragically a few weeks ago, back home for burial. One of the young men was buried by a relative and the authorities later found they'd made a mistake in identifying some bodies and the young man buried in Newfoundland had to be exhumed and brought back to Ontario for burial and now two bodies in Alberta have to be figured out as to which one belongs there and which one goes to Newfoundland. My cousin tells me all these young men came from communities smaller than Norland or Kinmount and now her relative has to go through the heartbreaking process of identifying, if possible and burial, a second time.

Marg and Doug Michel have family visiting from out west this week.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of Mr. Boyd Scarlett who passed away June 25.

Miss Natasha Dyer of Crystal Lake and her friend, Master Jason Gilles of Toronto, who is visiting this week, wish to thank Sis and Jim Gillis of Galway Road for taking such good care of them while Natasha's mom, Yvonne, has been in and out of hospital.

Mary L. Pyke and Mary Graham of Norland, spent a few hours in "Coby" on Friday.

The weather sure has taken a turn for the better and now the gardens are starting to look good. There's hope yet folks!

It's finally official - after all these years, we don't only have our own flag but now we have our own anthem "Oh Canada".

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Well my friends, Canada week is over; Canada Day is over and O' Canada has finally been officially declared the national anthem; of course some lines have been changed, and more changes may come, but it is to be hoped that as Canadians we will sing our national anthem with as much fervour as our neighbours to the south sing theirs. Oh, I know we aren't as demonstrative, but we should be as patriotic and really sing.

I have noticed on T.V. in sports especially, that we lack the concentration during the playing or singing of our national anthem; one sees the participants talking or fidgeting and not paying attention and surely for that length of time one could stay quiet. The crowds are the same. If you don't believe me, pay special attention the next time you watch a sport event at the start.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Milbury and three children from Nova Scotia have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Taylor and Kent.

Story time at Minden library will be from 10 a.m. - 11 a.m. every Monday morning for the months of July and August, if enough children attend.

Mrs. Florence Barton of Agincourt spent a few days with Mrs. Verna Jarvis last week.

Encyclopedia Britannica, volume 15 has yet to be returned to the Minden library. Please keep checking for it for we will keep asking until it is found! A book that size can't hide forever.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dawkins of Rexdale spent the weekend at their cottage.

I read a report the other day on what is in our garbage and how true it was. According to the Glass Bottle Blowers Assn., our trash is composed of 59 percent paper; 12 percent wood, rags and miscellaneous; 9 percent food waste; 8 percent metal and cans; 6 percent plastics and rubber and 6 percent glass.

Anne Schell of Sudbury visited friends and relatives over the weekend.

I have just said farewell to number 2 grandson who this week heads up to a Jr. Ranger camp just south of Kenora for the summer. It will certainly be good experience for him. My how soon they grow up! Mrs. Laura Windsor of

The extremely hot weather must have done something to the poor sick gardens, at least to give them a start, but it didn't last very long and there are some sad looking tomato plants in my garden. I guess this just wasn't a year to put in a garden.

The forest fires in North Western Ontario are still raging out of control. It must be very frustrating for the fire fighters who work so hard without getting any satisfactory results.

The young people are enjoying swimming in the lake these days but I find it still a bit chilly. I hope it soon warms up. The water level is quite high again. All the heavy rains, we guess.

Kawagama Lake Cottagers Association are holding their annual general meeting at Camp Morelands on Saturday, July 12 at 10 a.m. They are looking forward to a good turnout.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held for Mary Ellen McLennan last Thursday at the Community Centre. There were over 40 well wishers present and the bride-to-be received many lovely gifts. A lunch was served by the hostesses. Mary Ellen is to be married on July 19 to Paul Kennedy.

The home of Heinz Eberhardt in Franklin Township on Lake of Bays was destroyed by fire last Thursday. It was reported by E. Gibbons of Dorset, who was passing by and saw the flames coming out of the roof. A garage near by was saved but the home was beyond saving. Our sympathy is extended to the family in their loss.

The Dorset Fire Department was again called upon to administer oxygen to a tourist who was in distress due to illness, and who has now been able to return to Arizona due to the quick response of the local firemen and the excellent care he received at Huntsville hospital. It is comforting to know that we have this service available when needed.

The new director at Camp Morelands is Mrs. Evelyn Dean. We wish to welcome her to the Dorset area.

Note: To clean your tea and coffee cups of stains, scrub with a damp cloth dipped in salt.

A group of interested citizens have gotten together and plan on building some playground equipment for the public school over the summer. They are going to need some help with supplies and would be grateful for donations; required is the following: logs 6-10 inches in diameter, old tires, clean lengths of chain (for swings, etc.) well tiles and cement.

Norm Clift will be supervising the work and his phone number is 766-2302. Others who may be called re donations are Joanne Buss at 766-2913 and Marie Workentin at 766-2773. Your help will be appreciated.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Clifford Stoughton and family in the death of her mother, Mrs. Stan Higgins, on Sunday at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

The community was saddened to learn about the death of Mary Leveck. She had many sterling qualities and will be missed by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McQuillan of St. Catharines spent the weekend with Norma's mother, Mrs. Claribel Sheehan. They were accompanied by their daughter, Lee, who will be working for the summer months at Bonnie View Inn, Haliburton.

Mrs. Gladys Monaghan and Miss Elva Whitcombe were guests at the home of their sister, Mrs. Robert Fotheringham.

The Thursday night craft class concluded this week at the home of Mrs. Marie Dewey. Varied and interesting reed baskets were finished. A social time followed. All felt the course had been enjoyable and worthwhile. Some of the ladies were heard to comment that they felt a real sense of achievement and were proud of their handicraft - never expecting to complete something so self-satisfying. Thanks to our instructor, Miriam Lewis for her generosity and patience.

Gooderham softball team, the Tigers, met the Minden Juniors at Minden last Monday and won nicely. On Thursday the return game was played at Gooderham with the local ladies getting the short end of the score. However, it was a good game with Karen Hunter batting another home run bringing in three on bases. Good work, ladies! Come out Thursday nights and give vocal encouragement to the teams!

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunders

This past week I had the opportunity to taste the new sterilized milk that has just recently started to be sold in some supermarkets. I found that it was most flavorful and served cold, I would think that no one could tell the difference from fresh milk. The big selling feature is the fact that it does not require refrigeration and it will last unopened for up to three months on your shelf. However, once it has been opened it does have to be refrigerated like any other dairy product. Sterilized milk is regular milk that has been flash heated to 135 degrees C. under pressure for three seconds then rapidly cooled. This kills bacteria and prevents the milk from going sour without refrigeration. The milk is in a new package, Tetra Brik, a self standing litre container sealed aseptically that fits well on a shelf or in a cupboard. As yet only two percent partly skimmed sterilized milk is available but homogenized and chocolate milk and half and half cream should be on grocery shelves soon. This type of milk will be a real boon to campers, cottagers, large families with small refrigerators, and single or senior citizens who can't shop for dairy products more than every week or so. I have suggested to our local Red and White store manager that he stock it so everyone can try it.

Jim and Norien Magee have just returned from an enjoyable two-week trip of touring Edmonton, Whitehorse, Dawson City, Fairbanks and Anchorage. They cruised the inside passage to Vancouver stopping enroute to sight-see and explore this beautiful country of ours. During their trip they panned for gold and Jim was fortunate enough to find two good-sized nuggets. One was large enough to be made into a tie-tack and the other was used with some gold flakes, panned by Norien and made into an attractive teardrop necklace for her. The weather, for the most part, was warm and springlike with little rain. They did find, though, that while in the land of the midnight sun that the continuous daylight was a trifle disconcerting. They were there at the time of the year that the sun does not set and day and night seem much the same.

Soon to be year round Norland residents are Murray and Olivia Detlor of Whitby and their son Chuck. The Detlors are long-time Shadow Lake cottagers and plan to make Norland their home after Murray's retirement on July 10. A surprise retirement party was planned for him on Saturday, June 28 in Haliburton by his C.B. radio friends. We hope the Detlors enjoy their stay in Norland and that everyone will make them most welcome.

It was very sad to learn of the drowning of a young 18-year old youth, James Douglas Langille of Toronto, on Monday, June 23. He was swimming with friends in Shadow Lake when he got into trouble and it must have been heartbreaking for them when they were not able to assist him. We trust that this will be the first and only such tragedy in our area this year. Do not swim alone and do take care when enjoying this summer sport.

Norland United Church Women will hold their bazaar and bake sale in the United Church hall on Wednesday, July 9 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend and enjoy a wide selection of baked goods, garden vegetables, hand-knitted and crocheted articles, crafts and afternoon tea.

Former Norland resident, Mrs. Donna Dever (nee Liscombe) was feted at a baby shower in Norland Community Hall on Sunday, June 22 when family and friends presented her with useful and attractive gifts for her expected new arrival.

This Saturday, July 5 the Norland Firefighters will hold their sixth annual horse draw in Ward Memorial Park starting at 1:00 p.m. There will be draws of light and heavy horses, ponies and women's single horse. The Haliburton Pipe Band will supply music, antique cars on display, and games of chance, refreshments and a gate prize. Admission to grounds is $2 for adults, children under 12 years $1, and pre-schoolers free. The winner of the $1,000 bill from tickets that have been sold will be announced at the horse draw. Tickets at $1 each are still available from local firemen or at the township office.

Although it was only a win of $10, Mrs. Ada Ferguson of Head Lake was very pleased to have a winning number in the Wintario draw a couple of weeks ago. Since it was her first win, we will wish for bigger and better next time.

Bingo every Monday night at Norland Community Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Our good neighbours to the south are planning their annual Lions Club Carnival on Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26 in Cobocok Lions Park. The Lions are selling draw tickets at 50 cents each or 3 for $1 with a first prize of $300, second prize $100 and third prize $50. All Lions members have tickets for sale. This club assists many worthwhile projects and would appreciate your support both at the carnival and ticket purchases. New executive recently elected to the Cobocok Lions Club is as follows: Past-president, Ted Garrels, president, Thane Yeo; 1st vice-president, John Maunders; 2nd vice-president, Jack Lewis; secretary, Derek Spencer; treasurer, Micki ferenczy; tail twister, Stan Paine; lion tamer, Earl Sutherland.

"O Canada" is now our official national anthem. We should all sing it proudly and remember just how fortunate we are to live in this great country. Happy Birthday Canada.

Trent Severn News

Heavy rains approaching 2 inches (50 mm) across the Muskoka-Haliburton region caused considerable increase in the storage water held in lakes in Haliburton County. The increase amounted to 3.3% to reach 99.7% on June 23, the highest average level reached this year. This, of course, is too much and flows have also been increased to get rid of the surplus.

The Gull River flow last Thursday of 12.5 cubic metres per second is the normal summer minimum. Increases resulted in this flow being 37.3 cubic metres per second by Wednesday, June 25.

Similar large increases have been required on the Otonabee River going from the overfilled Kawartha. The peak reached 107 cubic metres per second Wednesday, June 25, from 31 one week earlier. The 107 cubic metres per second is somewhat less than the 120 considered the maximum for safe boating. Both of these flows of course, are far in excess of the normal summer minimum of 17 cubic metres per second.

A further complication to water control this summer is the new dam construction at Campbellford. The old dam is being replaced, but these high flows have had to be passed through it and by the excavation site because they were in excess of the accompanying power plant's maximum capacity. Normally this time of year the power plant could handle the entire flow of the river. Power plant operation was also interrupted in several places by electrical storms which result in prompt changes to the dam settings if steady water levels are to be maintained.

On Wednesday, June 25, a ratepayers' meeting was held at the Gooderham Elementary School regarding volunteer work for the teaching year 1980-81. Ruth Gorrie, principal of Victoria Street Public School, Haliburton, discussed details regarding volunteer work. The discussion proved informative and worthwhile.

Since Wednesday, June 25, was the last Wednesday of the month, Glamorgan senior citizens enjoyed their pot luck meeting. Thirty-one members and visitors sat down to a variety of casseroles, salads, pies and cakes. Among the guests welcomed were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Black of Stormy Lake. Following business, Dorothy Robertson reported on the visit of some members to Coe Hill on June 23 for a picnic celebrating their centennial. A group of eight executed a Scottish dance which was well done. Jack Gedney brought out his music equipment and square and modern dancing were enjoyed, interspersed with lessons given by Dorothy Robertson on a strathspey. The group meet every Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the fire hall and welcome new members.

Judy and Wayne King, residents of Kincardine, are happy with the arrival of their first child, a son. We congratulate Judy and Wayne on this special occasion.

Another of our local girls, Lynn Tallman, will be guest of honour at a bridal shower being held at the Legion Hall at 1:30 p.m. on July 6. A gift for the money tree is sug-

During July and August the library will add Saturday afternoon to their usual schedule - 1:30 to 3:30. Also at the library summer activity for children will commence July 4 and continue through the month with hours 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Members of Legion Branch 624 had a busy schedule as they launched their fish derby at Farquhar Lake on the weekend. A fairly good turnout for this occasion resulted in the largest fish prize taken by Brian Kovatch of Sterling. Heaviest fish catch went to Ted Freeman (Shag) while third class honours were awarded to another Sterling fisherman, Russel Bilkess. A dance in the evening following the fishing activities resulted in a large crowd in attendance and the weekend events were regarded as highly successful.

The draw was made on the 16' fiberglass canoe being raffled by the Legion. The lucky winner was W. Allan of Whitby.

Fresh Local Strawberries Are Available

There's nothing quite like local strawberries for freshness and flavour. Strawberries are now available at fruit stands and at Pick-Your-Own operations. Here are a few helpful hints to enjoy strawberries. To prepare strawberries, start with plump, well-shaped, solid red berries. Wash them in cold water, hull them and pat to dry. Don't soak them since they tend to lose their flavour and colour. To serve, slice or leave them whole, but prepare them close to serving time to preserve their flavour and firmness.

Strawberries look and taste good on their own, so they really don't need much dressing up. You may wish to add cream and a sprinkling of sugar, or for a touch of elegance, pour chilled Ontario sauterne or champagne over the strawberries, garnish with mint and serve right away.

Strawberries are an ideal snack. Just put them in a large glass bowl in the middle of the table and see how long they last! Strawberries are ideal to carry along on a picnic too. If you'd like to dip them, use yogurt or combine some sour cream with a bit of brown sugar and vanilla extract. Local strawberries are delicious served in many ways, but the simpler the better, so you don't hide their fresh flavour.

No insurance claim on Stanhope pumper truck

With the possibility of receiving a claim from its insurance company in a category which municipal Officials didn't know existed, Stanhope Township was disappointed to learn that its fire department's pumper had not frozen last winter.

Council had been all but guaranteed that the claim would be honoured by Frank Cowen Insurance company when Robert Cowan attended a meeting June 11. Cowan told council at that meeting that automatic coverage had been extended to all municipalities without their knowledge because many pumper units had frozen during the winter months.

The municipality will have to foot the over $600 bill for repairs since the insurance company will not cover ordinary "wear and tear".

Soyers' Lake development goes to OMB

The Ontario Municipal Board will hold a hearing in Minden, August 5 to consider objections to a proposed development on Soyers Lake.

Couchiching Real Estate Ltd., of Don Mills, have submitted a plan of subdivision to the Ministry of Housing for a 17-lot, seasonal residential development, on part of Lot 30, Concession 7, Minden Township.

Notice of the hearing came at a meeting of council last Wednesday. The OMB gave no indication as to the number of objections to the development it has received.

Anyone sending along more than three children may do so at a family rate.

We are looking for contestants for the amateur talent contest to be held at Country Good Times on Saturday,

Don't forget the big Fiddle and Step Dance Contest and show that takes place July 5. This popular event is sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion and most of the action takes place in the Wilberforce arena. The program begins at 1 p.m. A good dinner will be served in the Lloyd Watson Memorial Hall from 5 to 7 p.m. There will be two orchestras of Frank Leahy to provide music through the day and for the dance which follows and will be held in the hall from 9 until 1.

Social Planning Council

Elsie Bursley stressed the role of the Social Planning Council in stimulating communication among the organizations and agencies in the county, and expressed her pleasure at the cooperation demonstrated by Children's Aid and Home Support.

Catherine Miller, the Infant Development Consultant for Haliburton and Victoria Counties, reported on the newly established Infant Education Program. Miss Miller's job is to help each child referred to her by parents, doctors, public health or other community agencies, to reach its learning potential. The infants and parents are visited at home and the former's development is assessed and learning goals set accordingly. The parents are furnished with information on learning and development, and may be provided with toys. Referrals to other services will be made when appropriate. The program is specifically designed for parents who have children from birth to two years, who are developing more slowly than expected, and whose development is at risk medically, environmentally, or biologically. The program is provided through the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit and funded by the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

Contact MNR before altering shoreline

Editor's note: The following is a message from the Ministry of Natural Resources at Minden to anyone planning work near the water:

Anyone owning lake or river front property may be planning a project to alter their existing shoreline, such as filling in with sand to improve beach areas, or dredging out shallow muddy areas to improve boating.

Such projects can have serious effects on the fishery, or on other land owners in the area, and approval must be obtained from the Ministry of Natural Resources prior to commencing. This does not mean that every proposed project will be blocked. It does mean, however, that the possible impact on such projects will have to be considered prior to approval.

The following provincial statutes administered by the Ministry of Natural Resources contain provisions relating to such work: The Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act, The Beach Protection Act, The Game and Fish Act, and the Public Lands Act.

As well, the following federal statutes may also apply: The Fisheries Act, and The Navigable Waters Protection Act.

Failure to comply with this legislation may result in charges being laid, and costly restoration of the site.

Haliburton County council holds June meeting

At the June meeting of Haliburton County council, the following matters were considered:

Warden McGillivray welcomed the return of Reeve Keith Tallman after a lengthy illness. The warden then asked for a moment's silence to pay respect to the late William Housnell, a past warden of the Provisional County of Haliburton.

County Council confirmed support of the Ministry of Natural Resources in their land use studies related to local natural resources as outlined in Mr. D.D. White's letter of April 21.

Council also confirmed to the Ministry of Government Services that it is not interested in acquiring the surplus property offered at market value in the Township of Minden.

Accounts were approved in the amount of $39,592.66.

Correspondence as noted by the Correspondence Committee was read by the clerk.

The warden and clerk were authorized to sign a deed from the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden accepting title to Block A on Registered Plan 593 in the Township of Anson, which land is being conveyed gratis for addition to property occupied by Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home.

The Collective Agreement between Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home and the Ontario Nurses' Association was reviewed.

Council ratified the two-year Collective Agreement between Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home and Ontario Nurses' Association effective June 22, 1979.

By-law 1101, a by-law consenting to the passing of a by-law by the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up and close to vehicular traffic only and not to pedestrian traffic, a portion of the Taylor Road located in Lot 9, Concession 9, in the Township of Minden, was passed.

By-law 1102, a by-law for the purpose of consenting to the passing of a by-law by the Township of Snowdon to stop up, close, and convey part of the original allowance for road lying between Lot 21, Concession A, Township of Snowdon and Lot 21, Concession A, Township of Lutterworth, was also passed.

Because council understood that an application by C.N.R. to abandon and remove the rail-line from Lindsay to Haliburton, has been made to the Transport Board; it resolved that C.N.R. and the Transport Board be asked to delay any such hearing until a study can be done on a tourism-freight proposal as proposed by Haliburton, Victoria and the Town of Lindsay. In the interest of the future and the present economy of these counties, council asked C.N.R. to withhold any records applications at this time.

Council rescinded Motion #39/80 dated April 16, 1980, in respect to liming in Hal-burton County.

The letter from the Township of Stanhope relative to 66' shoreline allowance policy was read, with individual points being discussed.

Budget chairman M. Fearrey then reviewed each item in the recommendations from the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association, with comments contributed by members. It was agreed that a minor amendment should be made to the initial policy to allow flexibility of description - that the survey may include a compromise with adjoining landowners.

The proposed policy for closure and conveyance of the 66' original allowance for road (shoreline) for the Provisional County of Haliburton is as follows: 1. The original lakeshore allowances be deeded to the abutting owners at the municipality's discretion by by-law - said by-law to be confirmed by the county, provided the allowance deeded is perpendicular to the lot line and not an extension of the lot lines. The survey may include a compromise with adjoining landowners. 2. The closure deeding is not in any manner a part of an original road allowance that blocks suitable and sufficient access to a lake or an adjoining property owner's access. 3. That a uniform fee structure be used throughout the county by the municipalities involved unless there are trade-offs or different circumstances affecting the individual case, in which cases the reason is to be explained to the county and if deemed reasonable the by-law is to be confirmed. The suggested fee structure payable to the municipality is $250 for each individual lot up to 150' of frontage, and at the rate of $1.00 per foot for each additional foot closed beyond the 150' for each owner, plus administration fee. In addition the adjacent landowner shall pay all legal and survey costs. The county is to receive the revenue if the shoreline being closed abuts county roads; otherwise the funds are to accrue to the applicable township. 4. That a by-law be passed and endorsed by the Ministry of Treasury and Economics governing the expenditures of any revenue received for property sales, said monies not to be used for anything other than road right-of-ways that must be purchased. The interest accruing from any revenue can be used for road or park purposes at the liberty and during the term and at the discretion of council. 5. Where the municipality does not have title to the existing public road at the rear of the lot requesting closure and sale, a quit claim deed for 33 feet from centre line will be required from the owner of the lot in question prior to aforesaid closure.

County Engineer Bill Obee presented a report on county road activity and read a letter from the Hon. James Snow relative to proposed road transfers.

Various meetings and discussions have been held between the M.T.C. and the Road Committee regarding the feasibility of transferring the Vankoughnet Road (#1) to the M.T.C. in exchange for Hwy. 519 to the county as outlined in a letter of June 4, 1980, from the Honourable James Snow. Council concurred with the transfer as outlined. A nay vote was registered by Snowdon reeve Bob Vick.

The warden then requested reports on Hyland Crest, library, property, health, Chamber of Commerce, and Economic Development Commission.

The clerk-treasurer was authorized to make payments on approved accounts for the Maple Syrup Feasibility Study on behalf of the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission pending reimbursement by provincial subsidy.

Murray Fearrey and Bob Vick were appointed to the Railway Committee. Haliburton County agreed to pay their share of the limit of the $10,000 needed for railway study based on equalized assessment of the Counties of Haliburton and Victoria.

County Council adopted the policy as amended re: original lakeshore allowance and Mr. Strickland's letter will be answered clarifying the county's position and suggesting that the county is not adverse to meeting with members of the federation or the general public at a mutually convenient date.

The clerk referred to a letter from Kwartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society just received relative to approved budget requirements, and read a letter from Hon. Claude Bennett, Minister of Housing, in reply to the county's recommended amendment in the new draft Planning Act relative to the County Development Strategy.

A, H & M council holds June meeting

At a meeting last Wednesday, Anson, Hindon and Minden council considered the following matters:

Godfrey Saunders and Jim Garbutt of the Minden Curling Club attended council and were present when the six tenders for the new building were opened. They were instructed to review the tenders in more detail and advise council of a convenient date for the committee and council to meet and award the tender.

A separate bank account will be established for the Minden Curling and Multi-Use Building Fund and receipts will be issued accordingly for income tax deduction purposes, council agreed.

Signing authorities will be the clerk-treasurer and the treasurer of the building fund committee.

Otto Homestead approached council regarding an addition to his residence at the Schnitzel House Restaurant.

Council decided it has no objection to Homestead's connecting to the sewer line via a manhole in front of Peterborough Lumber on the following conditions: that the applicant be responsible for all costs incurred with respect to installation; that all rules and regulations of M.T.C.

and M. of E. must be adhered to; that all municipal property that is disturbed shall be restored to its original state; and that a representative from the Minden Sewer System shall be on site at all times during construction.

R. Austin was present on behalf of Wicinski and Kopeck, the applicants in this matter.

Severance application #H 264/77 was approved and resolution 74-229 was rescinded in its entirety. No future severances proposed on this property shall be reviewed and considered by council individually.

Dave Willis, owner of the Rockcliffe Hotel, attended council to confirm that the L.L.B.O. inspector visits his premises regularly and every possible effort is being made to curtail the activities of the beer garden.

Council decided it has no objection to F. Thomas leasing property from the Ministry of Natural Resources in Lot 2, Concession 12, Township of Hindon for the purpose of a gravel pit.

In view of the fact that repetitive incidents of damages have occurred to municipal property council agreed to offer a $100 reward to any person who reports such incidents and the person so charged is successfully convicted.

Dick Schell was authorized to order sufficient shoulder flashes, hat and wallet badges, etc. to comply with the new title of Municipal Law Enforcement Officer.

Council decided that whereas severance application #H 111/78 to F. Everall was approved on the condition that when final survey is completed all buildings be located in accordance with By-law 14-67 as amended i.e. five feet on one side and 10 feet on the other; and whereas the final survey has now been completed and all existing buildings are located on the original 66 foot shoreline

In tears I saw you sinking, I watched you fade away. My heart was nearly broken, You fought so hard to stay. His life was earnest, his actions kind. A generous hand and an active mind. Anxious to please, loath to offend. A loving brother and faithful friend. The heartaches in this world are many. But losing you Roger, was the greatest of any. If tears could build a stairway And memories could build a lane, I'd walk all the way to heaven To bring you home again. Sadly missed and always remembered by your sister Marleen and brother-in-law Bill 32-B-2

Council acknowledged receipt of a brief from the Maple Lake Property Owners Association with respect to the 66' road allowance and due consideration will be given to the points of interest.

Council accepted the tender bid of Miller Paving Company Limited, for the supply and application of prime and surface treatment on township roads as designated by the road superintendent. It is understood the county roads department has forwarded all tenders to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and this acceptance is also subject to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications' approval.

The clerk will advise Mr. Reginald Cook that council is agreeable to accept Part 3 of a Plan of Survey by Paul Wilson, O.L.S., dated May 20, 1980. The township will be responsible for the legal fees on the preparation of a relative deed and also absorb $50. towards the cost of the necessary survey.

The road superintendent was authorized to purchase a level, after obtaining three quotes and obtaining the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Council authorized the advertising of tenders for a prime patcher and steamer subject to the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Council had no objection to the disposal of organic waste on property owned by Ray Welch, on part Lot 22 and 23, Concession 3, subject to approvals of the Ministry of the Environment and the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

Council approved general accounts totalling $12,053.21, road voucher #5 totalling $13,600.17 and May welfare voucher totalling $2,519.

The third reading of By-law 80-5 was presented to the committee of the whole, passed, signed and sealed.

By-laws 80-11 to levy and collect tax rates for the year 1980 and By-law 80-12 to amend By-law 72-7 were passed.

allowance and one building less than five feet from the side lot line; therefore the location of the existing boat-house be considered as legal non conforming and council authorizes the final approval to the Land Division Committee to endorse the deed with respect to severance application #H 111/78.

Council confirmed that the township would not absorb any further costs, either financially or administratively, with respect to the proposed severances on Registered Plan 357 and both the Bot Lake Association and Walsten Limited will be advised.

Councillor Brandon declared an interest in this matter and refrained from discussion.

Council reviewed the draft agreement to be made with C Brandon regarding a public parking lot. Some alterations were suggested and the owner was to be contacted for any further amendments to be included.

The draft agreement between T. Prentice and the municipality was considered. The clerk was directed to amend as instructed and bring back to council for finalization.

By-law 80-36, a by-law to authorize an agreement with Ontario Hydro with respect to an easement crossing Lot 1 Concession 13, Township of Minden, was passed.
